Jury Acquits Pantages on Girl's Charge

MISS EUNICE PRINGLE

Verdict Found After 65 Hours; Damage Suit Pending

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 27 (AP)—A verdict of acquittal was returned here today in the case of Alexander Pantages, theater owner, on charges of assault preferred against him by Miss Eunice Pringle, 20, Seattle dancer. The jury was out 65 hours.

Pantages, who was tried on the same charge in 1929, was convicted and sentenced to a prison term of one to 20 years. He was freed on bail of $100,000 pending appeal and the State Supreme Court gave him a new trial.

Miss Pringle testified that Pantages had attacked her as she attempted to sell him a dancing act. The theater impresario replied that Miss Pringle and her partner, Nicholas Demaris, plotted against him when he refused them the act, was her chief weapon.

Dorsey Peace Caravan Trekking Across Country

"Doesn't the peace caravan trekking across the country with a gigantic petition to the President mean anything to you?"

"Yes, sir, it means PATHETIC FUTILITY.

"We should work for peace, hope for it, pray for it, march for it. But we should always be ready for the other thing.

"THE EXAMPLE of heaven is surely good enough for Mr. Coolidge and other pacifists.

"Pacifists should humbly remember the times in Bible stories.

"'And there was war in heaven. Michael and his angels fought against the dragon and the dragon fought his angels.'

"It was fortunate for heaven and the earth that Michael and his angels were prepared for trouble.

"'And the great dragon was cast out, that old serpent, called the devil, and Satan, which deceiveth the whole world; he was cast out into the earth, and his angels were cast out with him.'

"Heaven, of course, wanted peace in those ancient days. It kept prepared for war. That's what we should do.

AIR SCHEDULES HALTED OVER MOUNTAINS

Automobile Drivers Perilled By Skids; City Forces Battle Downtown Slush

A blanket of snow and slush from two to five inches overspread Pittsburgh and Western Pennsylvania today, hampering highway and air travel and calling out snow plows for the first time this season.

Motorists found the going [slippery] and [treacherous] with [the] [mercury] [hovering] [around] the [freezing] [point].

The United Airlines Transport Corporation [plane] from Chicago, which was expected promptly [at] 10 a. m., was delayed [by] [snow] [and] [sleet] [until] [noon].

In Westmoreland County the State Highway Department has two plows working on the Lincoln highway, one on the mountain near Ligonier, the other between Irwin and the Allegheny County line.

Men and trucks were busy in Allegheny, Westmoreland, Beaver and Lawrence counties putting cinders on the steep grades and anticipating a freeze tonight.

Flying conditions were so bad according to the Weather Bureau station at Bettis Field that no ships were attempting the flight over the Allegheny Mountains either way up or down.

The Pittsburgh Highways and Service Bureau had not received [reports] free of [snow].

Rain, [turning] [to] [snow] [late] [this] [afternoon] [and] [tonight], the skies clearing [tomorrow] with little change in temperature, Forecaster W. S. Rinehart said. The mercury fell to 28 at the Weather Bureau early today, two degrees higher than yesterday's official minimum.

Snow, Cold to Speed Coal Production

HARRISBURG, Nov. 27 (AP)—Winter, bringing the first real snow of the year game at last to Pennsylvania today, greeted with great joy in the mining regions. The sharp drop in temperatures which occurred generally on Thanksgiving Day was followed by a steady snow today in practically all parts of the state.

The cold weather accompanied by wind which forced the coal miners and caused a general freeze-up of furnaces yesterday was accepted by the coal industry as the harbinger of the belated arrival of winter and the token of hard days ahead.

NEW YORK, Nov. 27 (AP)—The weather man made up for the pre-Thanksgiving lenience today by doling out snow and sleet from Maine to much of the territory east of the Mississippi.

Sunless New York shivered in a chilly [mist] [as] Washington had a light rain and sleet. There were flurries at Detroit and a heavier fall at Cleveland.

Boy Lives 90 Days Within 'Iron Lung'

NEW YORK, Nov. 27 (INS)—Henry Fuchs, 15, smiled today as he entered the ninetieth day of his existence in the iron lung, the respirator which alone was believed to keep breath in his body.

Doctors at a Brooklyn hospital believed he had set a record for confinement in the apparatus.

Love for Same Man Leads Show Girl, Chum to Suicide

NEW YORK, Nov. 27 (INS)—Love of the same man for Adeline Lee, 25, showgirl, and Pearl Werner, 20, her friend, led them to death through a suicide pact, police believed today.

Pleasures and sorrows, material comforts, costly clothes an elaborately furnished mid-town apartment, the adulation of friends were shared by the two blue-eyed blonde girls who liked gay companions and lively parties.

Their friendship was threatened when they found themselves in love with the same man.

They decided to die together rather than disrupt their friendship, police said they believed.

From the bedroom they dragged a mattress into the kitchen. They toasted death in a drink. They turned on five jets of the gas stove and laid down clad in foamy lace pajamas, facing each other as the fumes began enveloping the room.

A will was found in the living room decorated with autographed pictures of screen and stage celebrities, many addressed to "My Dear Jewell" or "My Dearest Pal, Adelaide."

In the document, Miss Lee, an orphan known to the stage as Adeline Lee, left $1,500 in a bank and all her belongings to Miss Adelaide Hess, her grandmother, now in the home for incurables.

Passengers Get Fright as Liner Bumps Boats

HAVANA, Nov. 27 — (Special to The Sun-Telegraph) — The wind and currents in Havana Harbor poised a queer trick on the Columbian Mauretania yesterday, causing the great liner to taste from the channel and bump right behind smacks.

There was excitement for a time among the 900 vacation passengers on the Mauretania and among shore crowds who feared the ship would capsize. No damage resulted, however, and the Mauretania almost immediately righted.

RESCUERS BATTLE SNOW TO SAVE 600 TRAPPED INDIANS

DEATH FEARED FOR VICTIMS IN MOUNTAINS

Hundreds Found on Plains After Nine Perish; Scores Held in New Mexico Hills

GALLUP, N. M., Nov. 27 (AP).—Medicine men thanked the Sun God today for the escape of 600 Navajo and Zuni tribesmen from the snow-swept lower plateaus and prayed for the safety of as many more still facing death by starvation and exposure on the mesas of Malapai.

The sun yesterday melted the snow thrown on the lower country by a blizzard almost a week ago and permitted many of the tribesmen marooned on their annual pinon nut picking expedition to return to the settlements. Deep drifts of the high country, however, still held the secret of the fate of their brethren.

Nine persons, four of them children, are known to be dead. Hungry, wet and suffering from frozen toes, feet and hands, the stragglers from the army of nut pickers wandered into the pueblos.

HATREDS FORGOTTEN

The little village of Zuni was crowded with Navajos last night. Navajos who, ignoring tribal feuding, laid down with Zunis and Mescaleros to sleep again on warm pueblo floors.

Three parties composed of Indians but headed by white men were breaking trail to the high mesas in a desperate effort to reach the marooned families before their supply of pinon nuts became exhausted. Five wagon-loads of food and forage are en route to the Atarque, where many of the refugees are crowded into a village built for 300 persons. C. G. Wallace, Indian trader, broke through to Zuni with a truck, gathering 39 Indian refugees on the way.

Stockmen of the Zuni region expressed belief that A. J. Crocker, formerly of El Paso, Tex., was in one of his several sheep camps. He is the only white man known to be missing.

CHILDREN PERILED

Among the parties forging through deep drifts to the marooned nut pickers are many who are husbands and fathers of the victims. It is the Zuni custom for the men to establish their women and children in the nut camp and then return to their fields. The Navajos likewise take their families along, but the men, instead of returning to their camps, wait and return with the nuts, which they sell at trading posts. The women remain behind on these trading trips.

Very few provisions are ever taken as the Indians depend on an immediate nut harvest for food. The first frost makes the nuts harvestable and it is not until after the frost that the expeditions leave the valleys.

Nearly all the Zuni men had returned to the fields and many of the Navajos were down with the first fruits of their harvest when the storm broke last Saturday. The women, they said, are protected from the winds only by canvas wagon sheets. The Navajos and Zunis are mud builders and have very little use for tents.

Chicken Bone Infection Kills Lya De Putti

LYA De PUTTI

Seven Doctors Fail to Save Hungarian Film Star

NEW YORK, Nov. 27 (AP).—Little Lya de Putti, Hungary's enduring contribution to the cinemas of Germany, England and America, died early today. She was 32.

A chicken bone that lodged in her throat November 19 was the indirect cause of her death. The immediate cause was pneumonia, complicating a case of blood poisoning that followed the removal of the bone from her throat. She died at 1:05 a. m. after nearly 30 hours of unconsciousness.

The picture that first turned the attention of America to Lya de Putti was the German film, Variete, a stage drama widely commented for its photographic excellence and the artistry of its performers, chiefly Miss De Putti and Emil Jannings.

Although her work in the Hollywood studios was accorded general approbation, it never lived up to the promise the petite performer had given in the foreign-made films. The arrival of talking pictures spelled doom to her Hollywood ambitions. She felt there was no place in American talking pictures for an actress with a foreign accent.

Efforts to win a public on the vaudeville stage fared poorly and the latter months of her life were plagued with illness and accident. Starting on a round-the-world trip last summer, she was obliged to leave the boat at Bermuda for treatment of blood poisoning. In August, 1930, she narrowly escaped death when a plane in which she was riding with Walter Blumenthal, New York broker, crashed near Whitehall, N. Y.

WALKER PLANS MOONEY CASE 'SHOW'

'Atmosphere as Important As Evidence,' Declares Mayor in San Francisco

United News

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 27.—Evidence plus "atmosphere."

That is what Gov. James Rolph will confront next Tuesday, when he opens the hearing on the pardon application of Thomas J. Mooney, convicted Preparedness bay bomber.

The admission that the stage will be carefully set and that Mooney's advocates will not confine themselves to a strictly legalistic review of California's most famous criminal case came yesterday from the man who is expected to furnish most of the atmosphere, Mayor James Walker of New York.

Rising late, Walker had a brief conference with the press before leaving to attend the St. Mary's-Oregon football game as the guest of Mayor Angelo J. Rossi. Walker said:

"Atmosphere in this case is just as important as evidence."

While he explained that it was his hope to build up a clear and dramatic picture of the case, Walker saw in the statement a reference to the anticipated introduction of the "Red menace" as a prejudicial motive for Mooney's crime.

Part of the "atmosphere" it has been disclosed, will be furnished by James B. Cromwell, scion of a wealthy New York family. Cromwell and A. C. Blumenthal, another capitalist, accompanied Walker to San Francisco and are taking part in preparations for the appeal to Gov. Rolph.

Walker has stated that many wealthy men in the East are anxious that he be released. Mooney's imprisonment, according to Walker, has given radicals all over an opportunity to deride American justice and may result in a nationwide drive to undermine American institutions.

Walker will pass his appearance in the state building Tuesday, but in the face of a demonstration by San Francisco radicals. The Trade Union Unity League announced that a Communistic demonstration will be held in the civic center on December 1 and that the object of it will not be to pass honor to the New York Mayor.

Walker and his group posed for the sound movies yesterday. As the cameras clicked, he said:

"I firmly believe that an innocent man has been languishing in prison for 15 years. Today it is Tom Mooney; tomorrow it may be you, or you and you."

"The Sunlight Company has its investment here and the city cannot very well put out all the gas lights at once. We are reducing the number of them. The Duquesne Light Company has been trying to get this business for years and the Sunlight Company is the last competition they have here along this line."

Director [illegible] head of the Department of Public Works, [illegible] of the [illegible] [illegible] as [illegible] Coun- [illegible] Assistant [illegible] was present to answer any [illegible] the [illegible] Council [illegible] de-

I have been in favor of taking out the gas lamps, but we cannot do it all at one time. I believe 100-candlepower electric lights would serve well in many places."

3,350 GAS LAMPS

At present there are 3,350 gas lamps and 124 gasoline lamps burned each night in the more remote sections of the city.

A representative of the Duquesne Light Company in 1928 and again in February of this year offered to replace each gas lamp [illegible] with a 100-candlepower electric lamp at a cost of $22.25 per year each against the Sunlight Company's charge of $25.80 per year. The gasoline lamps cost the city $36 per year each.

This offer was made to Director Lang and transmitted to Council. However, on February 9 Council passed the gas lamp ordinance with a few minor exceptions in the number of lamps and set up $100,000 in the budget to finance the gas lighting system. The contract [illegible] the number of lamps [illegible] set [illegible] in 1933.

PHILADELPHIA PROTEST

Has the Duquesne company's offer been received, the city this year would spend approximately $53,875 and get 60 per cent more [illegible] than with the taxpayers also paying $36,000 to [illegible] And this does not take into account the possible savings in repair [illegible] five was [illegible] a unit with a [illegible] the [illegible] year.

The Welsbach Street Lighting Company [illegible] the Sunlight Illuminating Company was recently ousted upon to defend rates in Philadelphia City Council. The attack made by Safety Director Schofield charged that the Welsbach Company was "gouging" Philadelphia to the tune of $450,000 a year for street lighting.

Schofield's [illegible] hearings resulted in at least a temporary postponement of Philadelphia's [illegible] contract for 1932. Philadelphia has 35,788 gas lamps and 10,401 gasoline lamps. A [illegible] of $14.25 on the gas lamps Schofield declared was [illegible] high.

DOOMED KILLER SAVED AGAIN

CHICAGO, Nov. 27 (AP).—Frank H. Bell, convicted murderer, has been saved once more from death in the electric chair. Gov. L. L. Emmerson granted him a 30-day stay last night within two hours of the time set for his execution.

It was the second last-minute stay for Bell, the first coming October 16 just 35 minutes before he was to have marched to the death chamber.

The Governor said he acted at the request of Murray W. Garsson, Assistant Secretary of the United States Department of Labor. Garsson said he intervened on purely personal grounds.

The federal official said he believed Bell deserved some consideration because he "prevented a jailbreak in which one or more of the attendants at the jail would have been wounded or killed."

The prisoner was sentenced to the electric chair for the slaying of Christ Patras, restaurateur.

PAY FOR KILLING OF 2 MEXICANS PLEDGED

Oklahoma Governor Plans To Send Parents of Slain Students $10,000.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 27.—(AP.)—State reparations of $10,000 have been promised the parents of Emilio Cortes Rubio and Manuel Garcia Gomez, Mexican students shot to death by a deputy sheriff at Ardmore, Okla., last June.

Gov. William H. Murray, of Oklahoma, said in a telephone interview with the Mexico City newspaper Excelsior that he would seek the Legislature's permission to send these grieving parents $5,000 each as soon as possible.

PLANS QUICK ACTION

Referring to instructions sent to the Mexican embassy at Washington declaring Mexico's intention to seek damages, he said:

"I will not wait for an international claims commission to act."

Terming the shooting "extremely unfortunate," Gov. Murray said no prejudice was shown by the Ardmore jury which acquitted the deputy, William E. Guess, and his partner, Cecil Crosby, of murder charges.

LAUDS MURRAY

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 27.—(INS.)—Speaking informally, Manuel Tellez, minister of Gobernacion, yesterday praised the declarations of Gov. Murray, of Oklahoma, on the shooting of two Mexican youths at Ardmore, Okla.

Two peace officers who shot the youths were acquitted and the jury's action aroused a storm of indignation in the Mexican press. One of the boys was Emilio Cortez Rubio, a nephew of President Ortiz Rubio, and the other Manuel Garcia Gomez, of a prominent Mexican family.

EAST END LEADS IN CITY PROJECTS TO AID JOBLESS

5 IMPROVEMENT FUNDS TOTAL $40,700

District Also to Get Share Of Work on Playgrounds Authorized by Council

East End residents will share in public improvements planned by the City of Pittsburgh in work to be undertaken through the Allegheny County Emergency Association to aid the unemployed.

Approximately $40,700 of a general appropriation of $99,780 for the entire city will be spent in the district, plus a share of playground improvements from $4,500 authorized for the latter work. Five projects have been specified in the East End.

The improvements with individual appropriations made by City Council are:

Nine Mile Run sewer on Frick Park private property, $15,000.

Farragut street, Bellman way, Collins avenue and Huntress street sewer, $15,000.

Highland Park sewer on private property, $6,000.

Improvement of Boulevard of the Allies at Zulema street, $4,000.

Greenfield avenue sewer, $700.

General playground improvements.

Wilkinsburg borough council has provided a $10,000 appropriation for street and sewer improvements. The projects are expected to provide work for nearly 600 men.

Wilkinsburg Provides Funds for 200 Jobs

Appropriations totaling $16,000 for public projects were approved last week by the borough councils of Wilkinsburg and Forest Hills. A $10,000 fund set up in Wilkinsburg will be used together with money from the Emergency Association.

Improvements provided for by Forest Hills include an extension of water lines in the Woodland Hills district and extension of the sewer system in the Bryn Mawr district.

It is estimated that 200 men will be given employment in Wilkinsburg.

SQUIRREL HILL TO HAVE TREE

The Squirrel Hill Board of Trade will follow its custom of past years by erecting a large Christmas tree in a prominent place in the district. The place and time have not been determined by the committee in charge.

T. O. Hasley, president of the board, in announcing the organization's decision to have a tree, said that an aid committee is at work now on plans for distributing baskets to the needy families of the district.

He explained that contrary to general belief, there are many needy families in the Squirrel Hill district.

WARNING GIVEN U. S. LEADERS

America will find itself ruled by a dictator unless weaknesses of democracy are corrected, the Rev. Lawrence O'Connell, principal of Sacred Heart High School, declared in an address Wednesday before the East Liberty Lions' Club in Kuhn's restaurant. Speaking on "Why Democracy Has Failed," he said:

"The failure of democracy is largely due to a lack of true public service. State and federal governments are not the only defect. The weakness lies rather in the absence of men of vision.

"Wheat lies rotting in the warehouses while thousands are hungry. Coal output always exceeds the demand, yet leaders of the industry are at a loss what to do with the surplus.

"America needs a strong man at the helm, if democracy does not purge itself of some of its weaknesses, it may wake up with a thunderclap to find itself in the chains of a dictator."

Homestead Steel Club Plans Party

An old-time "Dutch party" will be held tomorrow night by the Homestead Steel Works Club in Turner Hall, 319 Fifth avenue. Dancing, cards and dinner will follow the Holland customs. The club was organized in 1927 and its other officers are: Cyrus A. Poole, vice president; Silas C. Johnson, secretary, and William Hill, treasurer.

For the purpose of adding to its scholarship fund, the Palette and Brush Club of Peabody High School will open its exhibit and sale of hand-made Christmas gifts December 9. Proceeds from the sale of the articles will go to the fund, now $664. When $1,000 has been accumulated, the income from it will be used to help some talented student.

FIRE HYDRANT DELAY FOUGHT

Penn Township Civic League has decided to demand more speed in the installation of seven fire hydrants purchased for Rosedale by the Penn Township Commissioners from the Suburban Water Company. According to a committee consisting of M. M. Alcorn, John Baker and T. A. Krear, delay in the installation of the fire hydrants is halting a lowering of the fire insurance rates in the community.

Residents of Rosedale have carried on an eight-year fight for reduced fire insurance rates. Early this year underwriters advised that additional fire hydrants would have to be in use before they could give any consideration to a request that they recommend a reduction in rates.

Senator and Congressman Pledge Support to Bill As County Gives Approval

United States Senator James J. Davis and Congressman Guy E. Campbell have given assurance that they will actively support a bill to be presented to Congress seeking permission to build a new Pittsburgh-Homestead high level bridge to replace the present Browns Bridge.

The matter was discussed in letters received by Burgess John Cavanaugh of Homestead. Congressman Campbell wrote that he had conferred with City Peterson of the road engineers' office who said:

"I will be glad to co-operate in facilitating the construction of the bridge by approving any bill that was introduced which has for its purpose the granting of permission to build your bridge."

Senator Davis said:

"You can count on me to lend whatever co-operation I can looking toward the speedy enactment of legislation which will bring about this much needed span."

The first definite steps in the plan for the new bridge were taken last week by the County Commissioners when they ordered County Solicitor Mortimer B. Leibert to prepare necessary legal papers for presentation to Congress.

The Commissioners appointed the project, which is estimated to cost $3,000,000.

Officers of the Pittsburgh-Homestead District High Level Bridge Association, which was responsible for bringing the project before the Commissioners, are: President Burgess Cavanaugh; first vice president James E. Lose; second vice president Thomas J. Ingram; treasurer James C. Kuhn, and secretary F. H. Leuschner.

Jobs Sought for 1,000 As Furnace Tenders

East End public schools, together with other Pittsburgh public schools, have launched a house-to-house canvass to find jobs for 1,000 unemployed men as furnace tenders. The students are asking householders to employ men for this work, who have been assigned by the Allegheny County Emergency Association. The men under this arrangement are to receive $1 a week for giving daily attention to a furnace.

The object of the students' canvass is to sign up 12,000 householders for a 20-week period in order to give work to 1,000 men at $12 a week.

At Taylor Allderdice School the senior class has appointed representatives to visit every home in the district.

The city has been divided into seven districts for the purpose of carrying out the canvass. A teacher or principal has been appointed chairman for each district.

Men who will be given work by means of the plan have been recommended by the welfare agencies. Each man will carry an identification card. Employment is to be given the men with the understanding that they report at the houses every morning, once during the day and again at night.

Inquiries may be made at the Public School Employment Service, 411 Fulton Building, Atlantic 5438.

Sea Food Assured By New Process

WASHINGTON.—Soon Middle-Western folks will be getting sea food as fresh from the sea as if they lived on the coast, and East-erners will be getting as perfectly as the melons and fruits and vege-tables from the patch of orchard where they grew. The new rapid food-freezing process is now in operation in plants in 14 states. It is even possible to process and freeze fruit right where it grows. And cuts of meat are being frozen in packages at the packing houses for the trade. The products lose none of their flavor by the process. The only thing delaying the busi-ness is that dealers must have new and expensive refrigerator equip-ment as these commodities must be kept at a temperature between zero and five above.

When an EXTRAVAGANT WIFE is Justified!

Mrs. Jean Nash, of Whom Justice McCardie Said: "Dress and dress alone seems to have been her end in life. Mrs. Nash was the mere dresser of fashion and thus she trod the path which so often leads to financial dishonor."

Eminent British Judge Tells When a Wife May Spend More Than Her Husband Can Afford

HAVE you heard about the brand new yardstick for determining how far a woman may go in spending her husband's income for clothes? The decision was recently rendered by Justice McCardie, England's famous bachelor judge, during the suit of a fashionable London dress-maker to compel a husband to pay for his wife's clothes.

According to Justice McCardie, a wife is justified in being extravagant in clothes if her husband is amorous. The more amorous the husband is the more extravagant may the wife be, said the distinguished judge—and he had reasons for saying so. Find out what these are by reading the article about Judge McCardie's dictum from the High Court of Justice, King's Bench Division, which appears—next Sunday—in.....

The Christmas Spirit Is Here!

Hundreds and Hundreds of Little Girls Have Already Written to the

SUN-TELEGRAPH

DOLL LADY

And They All Want to Get Glorious

"HONEYBUNCH"

The Doll That Isn't Sold in the Stores

Read Today's Doll Lady Message:

Dear Little Girls:

The Christmas spirit is already here, I know it better than anyone else, I can tell by the demand for my dollies and the demand is already twice as great as it was at this time last year. It would seem, from the stacks of letters I am getting, that every little girl in Pittsburgh wants one of my "Honeybunch" wonder dolls. And the little girls are taking no chances this year—they're going after their Christmas dolls early.

I'm not a bit surprised because I was sure that when I came to Pittsburgh and displayed my "Honeybunches" there would be a big rush to get her. And the rush is really on—scores of "Honeybunches" have already been distributed and today I will have to send to my big doll house for another supply. Thank goodness, I am well supplied with these wonder dolls and there is no chance of any little girl being disappointed. They can all have their big, beautiful "Honeybunch" long before Christmas if they will do the simple things I ask them to do.

Isn't "Honeybunch" Really Cute?

"Honeybunch," you know, is no ordinary doll. She's almost as tall as this newspaper is long and she has the most winsome smile and twinkling eyes that you ever saw on any baby. The eyes open and shut—she goes to sleep when you want her to. You'll fall in love with her charming, natural voice and you'll laugh with real glee when you see her use her pacifier. You'll always be proud of "Honeybunch's" clothes—dresses of dainty organdy trimmed with lace, a chic lace cap trimmed with ribbon bows, and shoes and stockings to match. Oh, I nearly forgot mentioning her real rubber panties. "Honeybunch" is as nearly unbreakable as a doll can be.

Her arms and hands are made of rubber and can move just like those of a real live baby.

"Honeybunch" is a darling in every way—a marvelous playmate. I have made it unusually easy for little girls to get this marvelous doll and if you really want one, send me your name and address on the coupon in this announcement and I'll send you a letter by return mail, telling just what you'll have to do to get a "Honeybunch" all for yourself.

Don't wait! Do it now so that you can have your dolly long before Christmas. Goodbye 'till tomorrow.

Short Story -:- Revenge

By DOROTHY CHAPPELL

Nina Burchfield crouched among the plants with bated breath. Every fibre in her stooped body was taunt. Her ears cocked for the slightest sound.

She gazed immediately about her, at the closely cropped lawn and the shapely shrubbery that just now was acting as a shield for herself. The smell of earth greeted her nostrils. The swaying branches touched her face and tagged at her hair. As she crouched she felt in her large pocketbook and her cold hand gripped the steel of a heavy revolver.

She had laid her plans well. Not a thing had been overlooked. She wore gloves, and her shoes were three sizes too large. She had arranged an alibi for herself, and she didn't carry one single thing of identification on her. Her new cheap clothes and disguise would be burnt up afterwards.

She had called Bentley on the telephone. The name was like pointed swords in her heart. When she heard his voice she hung up. He was at the office. Blanche would be alone. This was the maid's day off.

Nina had reached the house. She was near the door. She listened. Not a sound. The stillness accentuated itself in her nerves and heart. Wild heart beats . . . making a staccato drum in her brain.

She hurriedly closed the door softly. She was alone. Alone, in the house that should have been hers. She had paid for some of the things with money she had worked for early and late. The other woman had taken her place in Bentley's life.

Ten years of a woman's life . . . 10 years. All the pent up humiliation, and vengeful feeling gnawed at her heart. She would make him suffer too. He, too, would know the bottomless pit of agony and despair. This horrid thought for months gave her a certain soothing feeling. She would strike him through the thing he loved.

There was her grandmother's clock. As she listened, the chimes, so familiar to her, chimed four. She had played around that clock when she was little. Her mother, now dead, had held her up to look at its face, and she had prattled in a childish voice. Tick Tock. Tick Tock. Her mother had pushed her to her breast, and laughing, had kissed her.

Nina made her way, over the heavy carpeted floor with cat-like tread. At the doorway she paused, and listened. A glimpse of the empty kitchen, and its small bright breakfast nook made her remember. The day the house was finished they had brought a basket lunch, and they had sat in those side benches. Facing each other over the fresh wood of the table. He had taken her hand, and laughingly said, "Honey, you don't consider my bulk getting in these benches every time we eat, did you? They are not roomy enough for a six footer like me. I like a space in which I can stretch around a bit."

That was the day she had insisted he go away for a vacation. He had looked wan, and she was afraid he might get sick. He had not cared to go. He hadn't wanted to leave her. Why had she insisted? If he had not gone, he would not have met Blanche.

Nina heard a movement upstairs. She crouched behind a chair. She waited . . . The clock tick-tocked . . . Nina held her breath. Her heart pounded. . . . Now was her chance. She tried hard to control her nervous hand that gripped the cold steel in her purse. There was a hurried noise on the stairs, a woman's high heels, sounded sharp on the hardwood of the steps. The muscles of Nina's body strained forward. She waited breathlessly for the woman to open the door. Fangs biting her itching fingers to pull the trigger, on the thirty-eight. There was a slight scream and the door burst open and a frantic young woman bounded in the room towards Nina. Help . . . For God's sake help . . . my baby is dying . . . come quick. Oh! . . ." she wailed.

Nina hurriedly snapped the purse shut and let the woman lead her hurriedly up the steps. Her brain in a turmoil of conflicting emotions. In the bed room she was faced by a small infant blue in the face choking with death. The mother rung her hands and prayed.

"He's swallowed a safety pin . . . he's dying." She threw her agonized body about swaying and making unfertain steps up and down the floor as she watched the strange woman work over the baby.

"Oh God, please don't take my baby," wailed the Mother.

Nina caught herself holding her breath praying with this woman. She laid the struggling infant on the bed, and thrust her finger down its small soft throat. She felt the pin, but could not get hold of it. The tiny hands, struggled at hers. Its feet pounded her stomach. If the Mother would hold its hands, it would be easier, but she was too distracted. There was only one thing to do to get the pin out. She must either tear the tiny throat, or bend the pin point back, so it would take hold in her own finger, so she could pull it out. The child was laboring hard through gurgles to get its breath. In a few more seconds it would be dead. There was no time to lose . . . Nina glanced at the pitiful eyes of tender Mother-love and utter helplessness. The child's life depended upon her.

She set her mouth into a tight line and holding the struggling baby hands with one hand pressed close to her body she worked to bend the pin back. The pain brought twisted, frantic struggles from the child. The pin slipped backwards. Nina's heart froze. It seemed useless . . . Then reaching down, as far as she could she put the point of the pin through her flesh, and pulled out the safety pin. The baby gasped for breath.

The mother caught the infant to her. Tears were streaming down her face. She caressed and fondled her child, burying kisses all over it. When she looked up through her wet happy eyes Nina knew she must make some excuse for being there. The ordeal had left her weak. Her knees gave way slightly from under her. She felt herself struggling with herself. For the first time, she took stock of the young woman's appearance. Pretty, but not a beauty. Yet, there was an intangible something about her. Then, it dawned on Nina. There was a striking resemblance between the woman and herself. Only the woman was younger. Suddenly she felt terribly tired and faint. "I had been canvassing," her voice sounded strange and little. "And I saw your door open and I was just looking for you . . ."

"I didn't even know you were there," said the young woman with a surprised note in her voice. "Oh, I didn't thank you . . . did I? . . . I'll remember you all my life," she gave a silly little laugh. "You'll never know how happy you have made me."

Nina took one of the baby's tiny outstretched hands. Its hand grasped her finger tightly. The touch sent a quiver through her frame, sweeping out all the pent up misery and hateful revenge. When she walked from the house, she thought only of the miraculous touch of a baby's hand.

PRICE ALONE Doesn't Prove Cleaning VALUE

AFTER ALL, you may have to pay that price more often. Or you may have to buy more clothes because of it. All of which means that cheap cleaning does not give your clothes that fresh, wholesome, lustrous appearance you expected to see, with the result that you soon have them cleaned again in the hope of better luck; or you may even replace those garments because you felt their beauty had lived its life. Give your clothes a chance to prove their value. Have them Miracleaned and you'll find out that your clothes can look fresher and brighter . . . and they can retain their lustrous beauty longer than they ever did before!

BUSINESS GAINS HELD DUE TO ADVERTISING

Commerce Bureau Finds Use Of Newspapers Big Factor In Trade During Slump

By ROBERT S. THORNBURGH
International News Service

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—Despite the general decline of business over the last two years, a survey by the Commerce Department, by no means of national scope, has revealed 358 examples of commercial and industrial establishments which have made material progress during this period according to a report given out today by the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce.

In the belief that the focusing of attention on sound and successful policies would help direct business into constructive lines and give valuable suggestions to firms which have suffered in the general depression, the bureau undertook a collection of instances of forward moving business establishments.

CITIES SURVEYED

In 74 large cities in 30 states 202 manufacturing industries, 43 retail distributors and 10 wholesalers were discovered whose policies contributed to larger business over the last year or more. Many examples in addition were not considered by the bureau because their success "however pleasing it may have been was not a result of their own efforts but of a favorable demand caused by outside agencies" such as the government building program. The bureau said:

"In many cases, present success is attributed not so much to the present or a change in policy, as to past policies, the soundness of which is accentuated by current business conditions.

"It is believed worthwhile to recognize policies which have laid a foundation of consumer confidence in the product and in the firm, and which have builded a strong financial structure, enabling the concerns to withstand the effects of a depression and to make the now less expensive additions and renewals to plant and machinery."

CAMPAIGNS CITED

Important among the reasons for progress was a more direct advertising appeal through newspapers, magazines and otherwise. These campaigns, backed up in most instances by an excellency of product which has stimulated public confidence and guaranteed a maintenance of sales. Other methods contributing to progress included market research, new uses of product, better direction of salesmen, study of co-operation with dealers, expansion of foreign sales, improved services, credit extensions and increased sales outlets.

POOR OFFICIALS TO ANSWER SUIT

The taxpayer's bill in equity, involving more than $743,000, filed in Common Pleas Court against the Allegheny County Board of Poor Directors, will be answered in due time, according to Attorney Harry W. McIntosh, counsel for the board.

The bill was filed in the name of Attorney Walter W. Riehl by the visiting committee appointed by Judge James H. Gray. On the committee are Attorneys E. H. Wicks, G. M. McDonald and Paul E. Hutchinson.

The bill charges the defendants illegally expended, converted to their own use, or misapplied $40,873 in real estate transactions at the Allegheny County Home at Woodville. It named Louis P. Schneider as agent for the poor directors. Records show large profits for Schneider but committee members said no action would be taken against him as he was not a public officer and acted merely as an agent in the deals.

BABIES FILMED AT YALE

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 27. (AP.)—Babies have gone into the movies at Yale University, but for scientific purposes only.

In an effort to determine behavior of normal children they have been photographed at monthly interval from the age of 4 weeks to 13 months.

The resulting series of motion pictures, Dr. Arnold Gesell, director of the Child Development Clinic, explained, constitutes a graphic record of infants during the first year of life.

Observations were made while the children were in a specially designed crib. The photographs covered posture, locomotion, skill in manipulation and other phases of development.

For example, the films reveal the child's reaction at various ages to a small cube or ball placed in front of him. They show how long a time elapses before he notices it, whether he discards it in favor of another cube and whether he plays with two or more at once.

Dr. Gesell has prepared a special reel of motion pictures in which two films are projected simultaneously. One shows the action of a 6-months-old child and the other shows the same child doing the same things four weeks later.

This combination view, he said, gives an immediate comparison of what progress the child has made during the interval.

EUROPE NOISY, STORKS VANISH

STRASBURG, Alsace-Lorraine, Nov. 27. (AP.)—Storks are finding Western Europe altogether too noisy for a grave, slow-moving and reflective bird. In almost every former haunt their numbers are rapidly thinning.

It has not yet been discovered where the absentees have moved. In 1927 there were 230 nests in Alsace remaining from previous years. In that spring only 150 were reoccupied, and in these were reared 386 youngsters.

When autumn came all the storks, young and old, flew south to Africa. The following spring not one of the youngsters which are recognizable by their plumage came back. There were fewer, too, of the grownups. In the spring of 1929 and 1930 the same thing happened. Not a single new nest was built last spring, and only a few dozen nests were occupied.

Ill Man Hangs Self In Phila. Storeroom

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 27.—(INS.)—Charles Marisotz, 43-year-old delicatessen owner, of this city, committed suicide yesterday by hanging himself by his belt in the rear of his store, according to police. Despondency over ill health prompted his act, police asserted.

ALL IN A DAY

By MARK HELLINGER

TALK ABOUT your tough breaks! Yop haven't heard a thing in that direction until you get a load of this yarn about an actor who just closed a successful engagement with a troupe in Chicago. He's a swell fellow, this Thespian. A regular guy. His only failing is that he has never been able to hold on to a penny because of his gambling instincts.

This actor will gamble on anything and everything. He thinks he's a great crapshooter and a remarkable poker player, and I shudder to think of the number of times he has been clipped by gentlemen who knew the hands he was going to hold long before the cards were dealt. He commands a handsome salary and, if it weren't for his gambling proclivities, he would have a comfortable fortune to his credit. As it stands now, however, his bank account is just about the size of the average newspaperman's. And if you don't know what that is, ask one of them.

Every once in so often our friend goes on the gambling wagon. That is to say, he swears by all that is dear to him that he is through with all games of chance forever and ever. Sometimes he actually sticks to his resolution for a week or two and manages to get a few dollars ahead. Then somebody lures him to visit a game, just to look on. He goes. And a few minutes later, so does his money.

When he hit Chicago, the actor was in the middle of a resolution streak. He had actually refused to touch a card or a pair of dice for some five weeks, which was a new record for him by several million miles. Two weeks went by in Chicago. Three weeks. And still the young man was true to his vow. More than that, he was highly elated with himself.

Well, he told a friend enthusiastically, I guess the old gambling fever is a thing of the past. Plenty of the boys have asked me to join a little game, but I just laugh and walk away. And would you believe it, I don't miss the games the slightest bit. No sir. Not one bit.

When I think of the money I've tossed away by being a fool, I could kick myself all over the stage. Oh well, I've had my lesson—and there's no use regretting the past. From now on, everything will be different. I'm definitely through.

You know, of course, that he walked into a game the following night. He assured his companion that he wasn't going to play. Positively not. Roulette was entirely out of his line anyhow. He'd just walk around for a few minutes, watch the play and leave. No more gambling for him. Let the other folks be the suckers.

About two hours later, the actor was out about $4,000—which represented the sum he had been able to save by not gambling. He made out his check, muttered something to himself and walked out into the night. He was sore at himself and angry at the world.

The following day he had luncheon with a wealthy Chicagoan. In the course of the meal he unfolded the story of the night before.

"Frank," he asserted, "I made a terrific fool of myself. Not only did I break my promise to myself, but I managed to lose practically every cent I had. And in these times, too!"

The wealthy one asked a few questions. He wanted to know the location of the joint. The actor told him it was a small spot, and supplied all the details. His friend leaned back and nodded.

"Tell you what we're going to do," he murmured. "We're going back there tonight. But you're not going to play. You're just going to watch me. I'm going to invest exactly $1,000 in an attempt to get your money back for you. If I connect, I turn your $4,000 over to you. If I lose—well a thousand bucks will hardly kill me. Get it?"

The actor entered a feeble protest about the ethics of the proposition. But his friend waved a hand.

"I'll be having my fun," he smiled. "Don't you worry about that. I'll meet you in your dressing room after the show tonight."

The plan was carried out. The actor and his wealthy friend hit the gambling joint shortly after midnight. The pal steered clear of the roulette wheel and made directly for the single dice table. He went into action immediately. And he hit a streak that was little short of phenomenal.

It actually appeared as though he were playing with phony dice. His luck was absolutely uncanny. It was one of those streaks you read about in the fiction stories. Before he was through, he had hit the house for $29,000!

When the pal turned in his chips the manager was extremely apologetic.

We haven't the cash on hand, he explained easily. If you will return tomorrow night, we will have it for you. Or would you prefer a check?

The winner said he was perfectly satisfied to return the following night. He motioned to the actor and they both walked out.

That tomorrow night business is strictly the 'come-on,' he laughed. They figure I'll take the cash and then lose most of it before I leave. But I'll fool 'em, my boy. A streak like that comes once in a lifetime.

We'll call tomorrow and walk out without a single play. You're going to get your $4,000 back and a nice present besides. After all, if it hadn't been for you, I never would have played at all.

The actor nodded.

That's great of you, Frank, he cried. And this time, I mean what I say. I'm through with gambling forever.

The perfect end for this true yarn would be to have the actor collect his $4,000 and lose it over again immediately. But it didn't happen that way. As a matter of fact, he wasn't able to get that much of a thrill.

When the actor and his pal went around to collect the $29,000 the following night, the gambling house was closed. They learned later that the owners had had a conference. And they had decided that, in these days of depression, it was better to close the joint entirely than to pay out $29,000 in cash.

BROADWAY conversation: Overheard the other night by Joe Maxwell:

"How's the liquor in that new speakeasy around the corner?"

"Remarkable! It makes you see double and feel single."

It actually happened only a day or two ago, says Metcalf, in one of the New York Civil Service Schools for Policemen. The lectures stopped before the pupils and explained to the future cops the nature of various crimes. He spoke at length on robbery, petty larceny and the like. At the conclusion of his speech, he went to the end of the room for a glass of water.

When he returned to the desk he raised a terrific squawk. The watch which he had placed in front of him to time his speech had been stolen!

E. LIVERPOOL PLANT SOLD

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., Nov. 27.—The seven kiln Smith-Phillips China Company's plant, idle for two years, has been sold to F. H. Johnson, of Summitville, O., by the receiver for the American Chinaware Corporation.

The plant, a unit in the old merger of Eastern Ohio potteries, will be used in the manufacture of a high grade china, Johnson told the Chamber of Commerce which conducted the negotiations for the deal in which $15,000 was involved.

Machinery will be installed at once for experimentation work while it is expected manufacturing will begin within 15 days. When operating to capacity the plant employs 125 persons.

MENTAL TEST FOR RUTH JUDD

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 27.—(INS.)—Winnie Ruth Judd, the trunk murderess, will have a sanity test at the hands of a Los Angeles psychiatrist, probably in preparation for an insanity defense at her forthcoming trial, her attorney Paul W. Schenck announced today.

Mrs. Judd is held in the Phoenix, Ariz., jail charged with killing her two friends, Mrs. Agnes Ann Leroi and Hedvig Samuelson, and shipping their bodies to Los Angeles in trunks.

The trial has been set for December 15, but defense attorneys will seek a postponement, claiming they need more time to prepare their case.

Schenck said he would leave for Phoenix today, accompanied by Dr. Edward Huntington Williams, an alienist.

400 Reno Colonists Celebrate Holiday

RENO, Nev., Nov. 27.—(Universal.)—About 400 divorce seekers celebrated Thanksgiving Day, many in the speakeasies, while a light snow fell outside. The gaming halls were almost deserted, except for drifters trying to get a little sleep on the floor.

Gest Motors While Illness Is Denied

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—(Universal.)—Reports that Morris Gest, theatrical impresario, had suffered a nervous breakdown were vigorously denied yesterday. It was said Gest is enjoying good health and motored out-of-town with his wife to spend Thanksgiving.

Passengers Get Fright as Liner Bumps Boats

HAVANA, Nov. 27.—(Universal.)—The wind and currents in Havana Harbor played a queer trick on the Cunarder Mauretania yesterday, causing the great liner to tear from the channel and bump giant fueling barges.

There was excitement for a time among the 900 cruising passengers on the Mauretania and among shore crowds who feared the ship would capsize. No damage resulted, however, and the Mauretania almost instantly righted.

HELD AS 'FENCE' IN BOOK THEFTS

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—(INS.)—Charged with being a "fence" for a mob of discerning and light-fingered literary crooks, Charles J. Romm, proprietor of a book shop was free under $3,000 bail on a charge of grand larceny. He pleaded not guilty.

After Romm had been arraigned before Judge George L. Donnellan, Assistant District Attorney Archibald Firestone declared that the "mob" for which Romm is alleged to have been acting as fence had been stealing rare volumes from the libraries of Columbia, Harvard and Dartmouth and several public libraries.

The New York investigation was started after Harold B. Clarke had been arrested last June, charged with trying to sell volumes valued at $1,000 stolen from the Lancaster, Mass., library.

RILEYS FLEE THREATS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—(INS.)—Harry and Rose Riley, father and stepmother, respectively, of Edith Riley, the 13-year-old cupboard girl, sought police protection when two men, one Riley's brother-in-law, entered their home, the Rileys claimed, with the avowed purpose of "beating them up."

The pair found in the house by police summoned by the Rileys when they fled through the rear door, were charged with destroying property. They gained entrance by breaking down the front door, the police said.

The prisoners are Aloysius B. Murphy, the brother-in-law, and Arthur Dixon. Police said they had been drinking.

Meanwhile, Edith is being treated for malnutrition and lack of air and sunshine at Gallinger Hospital. Her mother and sister claimed she had been forced to spend the greater part of the last four years in a dark cupboard in their home. The Rileys will go on trial perhaps in January on an indictment charging they tortured Edith.

Lupe Denies Rumor Of Gilbert Romance

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 27.—(AP.)—Lupe Velez, Mexican movie actress, landed here after a flight from New York and denied hints of a romance with John Gilbert, the actor.

The rumor arose from their return on the same boat from Europe. Gilbert arrived from New York two days ago by train.

M'KEESPORT TRIUMPH SPURS FINAL WELFARE APPEAL

DOG AROUSES 9 IN BURNING RESIDENCE

Two Families Flee After Pet's Alarm; North Side, Dormont Homes Damaged

"Brownie," a year old German police dog, today stands as the hero of a two alarm fire which swept through a two-story frame house at 321 Johnston avenue, Hazelwood, forcing persons into the street in their night clothing yesterday morning.

Joseph Perhars, his wife and son Carl, 9, asleep on the first floor, were aroused when the dog ran howling from room to room. They led Carl outside, then went to the second floor and awakened Mrs. Catherine Zehar, a widow and owner of the house, and five of her seven children: Steve, 20; Helen, 16; Mary, 10; Margaret, 8, and Donald, 2, who also were asleep. Two older Zehar children were at work.

THREE FIREMEN HURT

Firemen James McGinley, of No. 13 Engine Company, and Thomas Grealish, of No. 4 Engine Company, and William Jenkins, chauffeur for Chief Richard I. Smith, were injured while fighting the blaze and were taken to Mercy Hospital. Their injuries were not serious, Dr. Daniel E. Sable, chief city surgeon, said.

The blaze, believed to have been caused by an overheated furnace, spread rapidly through the walls and had reached the roof when firemen arrived. Most of the household goods and the two families' Thanksgiving turkeys were destroyed. Chief Smith estimated damage at $4,000.

SPRING HILL BLAZE

North Side firemen for three hours early yesterday battled a stubborn blaze in the two-story frame homes of Eugene Schmidt, at 10 Woessner street, and John Brughman, at 8 Woessner street, Spring Hill. Two alarms were sounded when the fire was discovered shortly before midnight. Occupants of adjacent houses fled to the street in fear that the flames would spread.

Damage to the Brughman home was estimated at $3,000 and that to the Schmidt residence was placed at $1,000. The origin was not determined.

DORMONT HOME BURNS

Damage estimated at $3,000 was caused by fire last night that raged through the residence of C. M. Cox, of 3231 Pinehurst avenue, Dormont. The Cox family was absent from the home. The fire started in the rear of the first floor of the three-story building, and burned to the top floor. Dormont firemen extinguished the flames after a two-hour battle.

A three-story frame dwelling at 314 Elder street, Oak Hill, North Versailles Township, was destroyed by fire late Wednesday afternoon. The occupants, Joseph Solotek, the owner, and Milan Taracich, his wife and four children, escaped uninjured.

Four volunteer firemen, Louis Lippert, Patrick Devlin, Paul Palmquist and Michael Devlin, suffered slight cuts from flying glass. The damage was estimated at $10,000.

MAN TRAPPED IN BURNING AUTO DIES

5 Others Killed in Traffic Accidents Over Holiday; North Side Collision Fatal

George Comsklin, 42, no home, was burned to death early yesterday while he slept in an automobile in the rear of the residence of Joseph Vargo, 918 Forest avenue, West Homestead.

Vargo, hearing the man's cries, rushed to the car, but was unable to pull Comsklin out in time to save his life. Comsklin, who often stayed at the Vargo home, was believed to have gone there to sleep.

Five other persons were killed in the Pittsburgh district over the holiday.

Walter Ignatius, 29, of 324 Thirty-eighth street, was fatally injured in a collision of two automobiles at Western and Allegheny avenues early today. He was pronounced dead at Allegheny General Hospital. Wayne Asbey, 23, of Scottdale, driver of the other car, was arrested by police of the Woods Run station.

Joseph Campbell, 40, of Library, died shortly after he was struck by an automobile near his home yesterday. Michael Geary, of Bridgeville, alleged driver of the car, was ordered to appear before the Coroner.

CHILD KILLED

Jeanette Crissman, 16, of 1029 Saw Mill Run boulevard, died in Mercy Hospital last night from injuries suffered when she was struck by an automobile near her home late Wednesday night. Paul Killmeyer, of Elliot, driver of the car, posted bond for a Coroner's inquest.

Joseph Campbell, Negro coal miner, of Library, was killed Wednesday night when he was struck by an automobile while walking in Brownsville road, Snowden Township.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Steiner and Dr. and Mrs. J. C. Stelly, of Ludlow, Pa., were injured in Saw Mill Run boulevard. Mrs. Lena Love, of 2101 Orchard avenue, Munhall, and her daughter, Pearl, 3, were injured when their auto overturned in Eighth avenue, Munhall.

2 HIT ON CROSSINGS

Frank Nardozza, 49, of 93 Cain street, was run down while crossing Frankstown avenue, and Joseph McElligott, 19, of 1690 Westmoreland street was run down while crossing Lincoln avenue. McElligott's back was broken.

Fire truck No. 38 collided with an auto driven by Andrew Scott, Negro, of 535 Winslow street, at Lowell and Meadow streets.

Stephen Novatmak, 7, of Duquesne avenue, Homestead, suffered a broken leg when hit by an auto near his home.

29 in Pool Room Held After Robbery

Following a complaint that a man had been robbed in an alleged gambling establishment at 820 Oakwood street, East End police early today raided a pool room at the address and arrested 29 men. Lieut. Walter Charles led the raiders and took into custody Benny Gazzo, 31, alleged proprietor, and 28 visitors.

OFFICE LOOTED BY SNEAK THIEF

While A. G. Kuhar, an attendant, was waiting on a customer last night, the safe in the office of the Atlantic gasoline station at LaPlace street and Center avenue was robbed of $10, according to a police report.

Kuhar said the safe was closed when he left the office, and it was closed when he returned. It was the third robbery of the safe in two weeks, Kuhar told police.

Ralph Leger, of 7841 Susquehanna street, was held up and robbed of $4 last night by two armed men as he left his parking lot at Broad and Whitfield streets, according to a police report.

The Penn meat market, 4919 Penn avenue, was held up late Wednesday night by two bandits who escaped with $397 after forcing the clerk, Carl Kreuteer, from the store.

Coats Fall From Plane Over City Tomorrow

Tickets, attached to little parachutes, each good for an overcoat or topcoat, will be dropped from an airplane as it flies over downtown Pittsburgh between noon and 1 p. m. tomorrow. The R. B. store, 138 Sixth street, will have 25 tickets dropped from the plane. Finders will get an overcoat or topcoat free upon presentation of the tickets at the store.

TOY COLLECTION IN SOUTH HILLS

Without shedding a tear, Teddy Shultz, 3, of 661 Washington road, fondly kissed goodbye his best pal, playmate and bedfellow for the past two years, "Teddy Bear," and tucked him in a huge box containing others of his toys which are to be given to poor children this winter.

Although he is not quite 3 years old, Teddy has a great many more toys to give away than the average child of his age, because his grandmother is "in cahoots" with Santa Claus all the year. She owns a gift shop. Ted already has put in his order for man-size toys like a tricycle, a drum and an electric train for this Christmas, his mother said.

Ted's toys will go to the Lions Club, of which his father, John P. Shultz, is secretary. With other toys to be collected through the Mt. Lebanon district today and tomorrow, they will be renovated and distributed to children who might otherwise be overlooked by Santa Claus. Toys, dolls, books and games will be stored at 639 Washington road to await Christmas distribution.

SERVICES OPEN NEW CHURCH

The Rt. Rev. Hugh C. Boyle, bishop of the Catholic Diocese at Pittsburgh, and a score of visiting priests participated in dedicatory exercises at the new St. Agatha's Catholic Church, Bridgeville. The church was recently completed at a cost of $60,000.

The Rev. Arthur Burns, of the Pittsburgh Hospital, was master of ceremonies and the Rev. Matthew Coughlan, pastor of the church, celebrated the mass. The dedicatory sermon was delivered by Msgr. Stephen Walsh, of Wilkinsburg, first pastor of the church.

Among the visiting priests who aided in the dedication were the Rev. John Faughnan, who was deacon of the mass; the Rev. Thomas Dunn, sub-deacon, and Msgr. Martin Ryan, the Rev. Thomas Bryson, the Rev. Ralph Hays, the Rev. Harry Gilbert, the Rev. Joseph Maxwell, the Rev. Joseph Lavelle, the Rev. Joseph Lowney, the Rev. Aloysius Justutis and the Rev. James Hanlon.

Stray Bullet Wounds South Side Youth

George Flanigan, 19, of 1729 St. Patrick street, was struck by a stray bullet yesterday as he entered his home. Police, investigating the shooting, believed the shot was fired by boys at target practice. Flanigan was removed to South Side Hospital, where his condition was reported not serious.

FUND WORKERS SACRIFICE HOLIDAY

Campaign, Still $2,500,000 Short, to Close Monday; Rotary Club Gives $1,500

A list of Welfare Fund contributors appears on Page 33.

With McKeesport "over the top" in its community drive, volunteer workers seeking contributions in the campaign of the Welfare Fund and the Allegheny County Emergency Association started out anew today in a supreme effort to achieve the same result in other parts of the county. The drive will close Monday, with a mass meeting in the ballroom of the William Penn Hotel, when final reports will be made.

While Thanksgiving was enjoyed by thousands in Allegheny County yesterday, many volunteer workers stopped only to eat their dinner at home and then continued seeking every possible dollar for the fund. To date the amount raised is $1,722,000, still two and a half million short of the goal.

ROTARY CLUB HELPS

Taking the lead among service clubs of the city, the Rotary Club of Pittsburgh has subscribed $1,500 to the joint campaign. It was announced by William Bradford, vice president of the organization.

McKeesport, seeking $103,000, exceeded its quota with subscriptions totaling $116,000. The McKeesport appeal was under the direction of Mayor George H. Lysle, E. R. Crawford, Mrs. Adolph Schmidt, Miss Zillah Grumes and others.

EMPLOYE GIFTS GROW

Employes of business and industry, already responsible for more than $511,000 of the total, have responded to the need induced by the emergency with subscriptions ranging from 2 to 13 times those of last year, William E. Quinby, chairman of the employe division, estimates.

Only 259 plants and establishments of approximately 700 expected to report are in so far, Quinby said, and all efforts are being centered on completing plant solicitation in time for the final report.

The Mesta Machine Company, whose employes gave $11,000, has announced it will match the gift, making a total of $22,000.

Homestead's quota of $30,000 for unemployment relief has been oversubscribed by $15,000, it was announced today. James F. Lose, general superintendent of the Homestead Steel Works, was chairman of solicitation.

TWO SET FREE IN SLUGGING

William Martin, of 2022 Forbes street, and William Bane, of 1018 Gibbons street, arrested November 16 in connection with the slugging of William Markowitz, proprietor of a Logan street fruit store, were discharged by Magistrate James J. O'Connor in Center Avenue Police Court.

The youths testified that several men, mistaking them for the assailants, attacked them and caused their arrest. No one appeared against them when the case was called on two occasions and they were freed. Martin declared he had never been arrested before and bore an excellent reputation.

Hoover's Band Will Play Loud, Weird Strains

By ARTHUR 'BUGS' BAER

You're going to hear some queer sounds in Washington next month.

When the White House tangles up with Congress it means there will be a Democratic orchestra with a Republican maestro.

It will be one political opera where an ear for music will get cauliflowered.

That last Texas election means a Democratic majority in the House of Representatives, which usually doesn't mean a thing.

The trouble with the Democrats is that they agree one at a time. And never on the same subject.

Everybody wants to be the whip and nobody wants to be the mule.

We will guarantee that three Republicans can outvote 300 Democrats on a chosen issue.

That's because the Republicans travel in Indian file while the Democrats deploy like skirmishers.

HUNGRY YOUNG FELLOWS GETTING TURKEY AT INSTITUTE

You had enough turkey yesterday to make you want to forget it, but pause and consider these young gentlemen, representative of thousands who had Thanksgiving dinners at the Salvation Army, which, like many members of the Welfare Fund group, tried to see that no Pittsburgher went hungry on historic Thanksgiving Day.

WILL ROGERS SAYS

To the Editor, Sun-Telegraph:

ABOARD THE EMPRESS OF RUSSIA, Nov. 27.

When you reach the 180th meridian sailing west, you lose a whole day. Don't ask me why. It's all Wickersham to me. If you come back this way you get it back. If you don't, you just lose it. The way days are it don't look like it's worth coming back for.

Will Rogers

We went to bed Thursday night and woke up Saturday. We came pretty near losing Thanksgiving Day. Guess a lot of folks wished they could skip this Thanksgiving. Getting less cause for it every year. It's just about a bust with everybody that don't raise turkeys or cranberries to sell.

Yours, WILL.

Jailed After Diving 70 Feet to Save Hat

CHARLEROI, Pa., Nov. 27.

When his hat was blown off his head and over the railing of the Charleroi-Monessen Bridge here, Mike Colitz, 30, of North Charleroi, removed his overcoat and dived 70 feet to the river to retrieve it. Firemen rescued him and police booked him on a charge of disorderly conduct.

FUGITIVE TAKEN BACK TO PEN

Earl Kratz, alias "Jones," arrested on the North Side several days ago as an escaped convict from the Oklahoma State Penitentiary, was taken back to that institution today to finish his sentence of 25 years for bank robbery. He escaped from the institution in 1923.

Alex Watson, six-foot agent from the penitentiary, arrived in Pittsburgh last night and took charge of the prisoner, sentenced from Enid following a sensational bank holdup which netted less than $3,000. After serving three years of the sentence Kratz with four other prisoners escaped, after one of the guards at the penitentiary had been shot.

Watson, typical westerner, was a conspicuous figure with his prisoner at Pennsylvania Station today with his broad hat, high-top boots and bulging coat. He expressed delight at being in Pittsburgh, characterizing the city as "a wonderful place." High buildings and hills seemed to interest him more than anything he saw.

Balk N. Y. Cabbie's Prosperity Talk With Hoover

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27. (INS).—There's one less taxicab on Broadway in little old New York today while Samuel Kraemer, 30, is waiting at Gallinger Hospital to hold a prosperity conference with President Hoover.

Kraemer drove his cab up to the White House door, and as Mr. Hoover already was occupied, the hacker discussed affairs of state and economics with blue-coated attendants.

Inspiration for the call, he said, came to him as he was cruising down Pennsylvania street of the Big Town. The cuckoo sent him to Gallinger for observation.

Taylor, of Greensburg. Major Coombe and Mrs. Taylor were seriously hurt.

FALLING TREE KILLS VET

Norman Guthrie Bolles, 57, World War veteran, was killed when struck by a falling tree on the farm of Dr. J. W. McCullough, in Kittanning, yesterday.

Bolles had been helping a brother, Richard, and a nephew, Wallace Bolles, fell the tree when he was caught beneath it.

Bolles lived in the Fox Chapel road. A member of Calvary Protestant Episcopal Church, he played the chimes there. In the war he took part in five major engagements as a member of the 28th Division. He was a member of Shiloh Commandery, Knights Templar; Hellman Lodge, Free and Accepted Masons, and past patron of Eastern Cross Society. He leaves his mother, Mrs. Mary C. Bolles; four brothers, Eugene, Taylor, Earl and Richard Bolles.

Bolles had been ill for many months. He resigned as a teller of Union National Bank, three months ago because of his health.

Tomorrow OUT of the SKY

Tomorrow Pittsburgh will be treated to the greatest eye-opener in years!! Out of the clear sky will drop O-V-E-R-C-O-A-T-S, yes, and TOPCOATS too—real, honest-to-goodness, warm winter overcoats. Brand new beautifully tailored overcoats that anyone will be glad to wear. WATCH FOR THE R.-B. PLANE BETWEEN 12 and 1 O'clock Downtown—weather permitting.

OVERCOATS FREE!

What's the big idea? you ask. Simply this: We intend to show Pittsburgh that we mean business . . . We're Being Forced to Quit Business . . . and the sky's the limit. Even if we have to give the clothes away . . . every garment must go. We want the "man on the street" to know about our great sale . . . and this is our way of "dropping" him a gentle hint. Such sensational values justify this sensational way of broadcasting our story. You have never before seen such amazing values . . . and we want to be sure that you will! So watch for the R-B. Plane which will fly over downtown Pittsburgh tomorrow between 12 and 1 o'clock. Look for the dropping overcoats—They're Free to whoever gets them!

SUITS—TOPCOATS—OVERCOATS
ALL AT ONE SENSATIONAL PRICE!!

Forget all your previous ideas of value! The clothing values that are offered you here at $10 are so amazingly different—so truly extraordinary—that you will agree with us that this is the most stupendous clothing event ever held in Pittsburgh.

How is this possible? Here's the inside story: After many, many years in Pittsburgh, our home office decided that our rent was too high—and we have marked our clothes so low that we are actually unable to continue under such conditions.

$10

Without warning—they wrote us to sell every garment in the store immediately. Price means nothing—we're through. Our big problem is to get rid of every Suit, Topcoat and Overcoat in the Great Store. Therefore the $10 price tag on garments that are worth $22.50 and up.

This is your great opportunity—your value-feast! Remember, this is new merchandise. There is a tremendous selection of new winter suits, smartly styled and popular colors—new fall Topcoats—and warm winter Overcoats.

If you are one of those alert men who quickly grasp an opportunity, you will be here early tomorrow morning. Get the first and best choice. This calls for ACTION! Don't delay.

Limited Number of Fine Suits, Topcoats, Overcoats
We still have a few custom tailored clothes that sold formerly at much higher prices—all to be put in the big sale at . . . $15

New Plan by Makers of Vicks Cuts the High Cost of Colds

Saves Money, Time and Health by Better "Control-of-Colds"

Test of Plan Offered by Pittsburgh Druggists on Unlimited Guarantee of Satisfactory Results

The high costs of colds are more than ever a problem this winter. In every home therefore it is news of peculiar interest that the makers of Vicks VapoRub have developed a Plan for better "control-of-colds" in the home. A Plan to reduce the number of colds and the high costs of colds.

A New York Product

The Plan in many quarters is a new preventive. Vicks Nose-Throat Drops. Based on a new idea in preventive medicine as a companion to Vicks VapoRub, the modern external way of treating colds. The two are a supplement each other. Together they make possible a new control of the bothersome family "Colds-Tax."

Trial Offer to VapoRub Users

Use of the Vicks Plan for better "Control-of-Colds" in your home will mean fewer colds and severe colds. It will mean cutting your high costs of colds (to date) a saving in money, loss of time and health. To say nothing of the discomforts of colds and the severe ills that often follow colds. Test the Plan for yourself at the cut rate. Get a bottle of the new Vicks Drops today. Use it with Vicks VapoRub as directed. If less results are entirely satisfactory, your druggist will refund the price of the Nose Drops and the test will have cost you nothing.

Here briefly, is the Vick Plan for better "Control-of-Colds."

1—Before a Cold Starts

Use Vicks Nose Drops a few drops up each nostril whenever you have been exposed to anything which your own experience tells you is apt to give you a cold—contact with others having them, colds, crowds, stuffy, ill-ventilated rooms, public places, a night on the Pullman or a jaunty automobile ride, sudden changes of temperature, air or cold, inhaling smoke, dust, gases, exposure to fog such as motorists encounter in driving after a cold day, when you are tired, run down.

In short, don't wait for that tell-tale irritation of the nose passages. Nature's warning that you are actually catching cold.

2—After a Cold Starts

At night, massage the throat and chest well with Vicks VapoRub, now available in white ointment form. If you prefer, spread on thick and cover with warm flannel. Leave the bed clothing loose around the neck so that the medicated vapors arising may be inhaled freely all night long. During the day use Vicks Nose Drops every few hours any time any place. If there is a cough you will like the new Vicks Cough Drops actually medicated with ingredients of Vicks VapoRub.

This gives you full 24-hour treatment and cuts out the risks of too much internal dosing which so often upsets the digestion, especially of children, and lowers body resistance to disease at a time when it is most needed. Don't "dose" colds except on your doctor's advice.

CHARITY MARKS THANKSGIVING IN DISTRICT

Food Baskets Distributed To Families of Needy; Special Church Programs

Thanksgiving Day in Pittsburgh was one of charity mingled with holiday gaiety. Victims of economic depression found no lack of comfort while those better circumstanced enjoyed the feasting and diversions of the day.

Five thousand children and many unfortunate families were the guests of the Salvation Army at its headquarters and the Volunteers of America sent baskets of foodstuffs to a long list of needy families. Other organizations spreading holiday cheer were the Helping Hand Goodwill Industries, Parting of the Ways Home and the Pittsburgh Association for the Improvement of the Poor.

Seasonal church services also marked the day, union meetings being held in many sections of the city and county with special programs.

SALE OF SEALS OPENS TODAY

The twenty-fifth annual sale of the Christmas Seals to provide funds for anti-tuberculosis work opens today. About 20,000,000 of the penny heralds of health will be distributed in the Pittsburgh district principally through the usual method of mailing 200 to a person.

This year's messenger features a coach and four suggestive of Sunday cheer.

Miss Claire Windsor, leading woman for Al Jolson, volunteered her services in the final preparations preceding the posting of 100,000 letters to Pittsburgh citizens.

John F. Casey, chairman of the seal committee, will speak over KDKA at 5 p. m. Francis A. Keating over WCAE at 6:25 p. m., and Elbert R. Moses and William Ward will present a sketch through KQV at 8:30 p. m.

The Pittsburgh Musical Institute will dedicate a half-hour program from WWSW on Sunday to the campaign.

County detectives today are investigating the death of Alex Malenski, 44, Coverdale miner, after information was received that he swallowed poison before he died in St. Joseph's Hospital yesterday.

An autopsy revealed that death was caused by pneumonia. Malenski's wife told deputy coroners that her husband returned home Monday complaining of a head injury. He said he had been held up. BOLEROS REMAIN STAND-BY OF SMART DRESSED WOMEN

Sketched in Paris

Paris Bureau, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

PARIS, Nov. 27.—The bolero dances its way through the mode, whatever the season, whatever the occasion or hour of the day. We see simulated or real boleros on almost everything and somehow never seem to grow weary of them. They flatter the woman with the ordinary form and glorify the woman of superb figure. The nicest suits have jackets cut on bolero lines and the smartest coat feels awfully out of things if it hasn't even a simulated bolero. Then there is the half-bolero that lets itself go to the front of the frock and isn't to be found at the back of the garment at all. The bolero front is found on plenty of evening frocks and little dinner dresses too and even our lingerie is passionately addicted to it. However smart the line is, it can always do with the introduction of the ubiquitous bolero to soften and temper it.

THIS MOST ASSUREDLY is a fur season. Every suit, every coat boasts of its bolero and its fur put on in divers ways. The ordinary little collar and plain cuffs of fur really did suffice once upon a time, but we don't believe that they will ever be sufficient for us again. Not after the ingenuous collar and cuffs we have seen this season. Just to show you, even if you do know already, what Paris is doing in the way of boleros and fur trimming on coats, we are sending you sketches of two very new and smart models. First we have a Chanel model, a coat that has been quite successful with her clientele, as it is smart without being obtrusively so. It is in dull-surfaced black broadcloth and is trimmed in ermine. The top of the coat is cut to simulate a bolero and fastens at the waistline with two buttons. Small oversleeves at the top of the arm reach nearly to the rolled upper edge of the ermine lower sleeves, which is puffed at the wrist.

THE ENSEMBLE sketched was worn by Mlle. Helen Worth at her civil marriage the day preceding the religious ceremony. The frock and jacket are in that new sensational Bagheera velvet in a vivid green. Bagheera is a very dull-faced velvet and especially good for afternoon frocks. The jacket is cut on regulation bolero lines and has a wide collar and revers of black caracul and a lining of the same, which is just visible along the edges.

How to make your teeth 3 shades whiter in 3 days

Impossible With Ordinary Brushing

Don't take anybody's word for it. Prove to yourself that it is now easy to remove yellow and stain as well as the causes of decay and clean teeth whiter—3 shades whiter in 3 days! Start using this new scientific technique. A half-inch of Kolynos on a dry brush, twice a day. You'll see a marked change overnight.

When Kolynos enters the mouth it instantly becomes a refreshing FOAM. This FOAM does the work. First it removes yellow and stain and destroys the millions of mouth-germs—190 million in 15 seconds—that cause most tooth and gum troubles. It stimulates the gums and purifies the mouth. Then it CLEANS TEETH RIGHT DOWN TO THE BEAUTIFUL, NATURAL WHITE ENAMEL WITHOUT INJURY. No ordinary brushing can make teeth so white. No mouthwash can give the mouth a cleaner taste.

Why have dull, yellow teeth? Clean them sparkling white and keep them sound and free from decay this way. Start using the Kolynos Dry-Brush Technique. Results overnight. Buy a tube of Kolynos.

Pretty Dollies With Pretty Names!

The SUN-TELEGRAPH
DOLL LADY
has an attractive name for almost every one of her
"HONEYBUNCHES"
but she has so many dolls that there are not enough names to go around and give every dolly a different name

Read Her Message Today:—

Dear Little Girls:

I enjoyed my Thanksgiving day because, by working ten hours among my dollies, I brought them just so much nearer to the little girls for the Christmas holidays. You see, if I had not worked yesterday, it would have meant a delay in the the delivery of "Honeybunches" to so many little girls who have done what I asked them to do and are anxiously waiting to get their own arms around their own big, glorious dolly.

This Is "Honeybunch," Isn't She Cute?

And I had a real good time with my dollies yesterday. I was making up a list of names for them. Of course, there isn't enough names to go around without duplication but there were plenty of names, and pretty ones, to keep me busy for two or three hours. One big, blue-eyed doll seemed to say to me, "call me Alice, because I'm really in Wonderland." Another "Honeybunch" seemed to say, "call me Mary Everyone likes that name." Then there were dollies that want to be named Joan, Jean, Helen, Ann, Marie, Lillian, Jeannette, Gloria, Nancy, Ella, Josephine, Ruth, Geraldine, Daisy, Bell, Margaret, Stella and Carolyn. So, yesterday I gave a lot of them a name but any little girl who gets one of my dollies can change her name if she wants to.

You will fall in love with "Honeybunch" at sight. She is really adorable with her big, beautiful, droll, twinkly eyes; her gorgeous, dainty organdy dress and cap, both trimmed with lace; her unbreakable rubber arms and legs and her darling, roguish smile.

"Honeybunch" really does a lot of cute things that other dolls can't do. You see "Honeybunch" is a DIFFERENT doll than all others and she cannot be purchased at any of the stores. She is really the aristocrat of all dolls. Incidentally, she's 20 inches tall—almost as big as a real live baby.

Now if you want a "Honeybunch" for Christmas and will do the simple, easy things I will ask you to do, send me your name and address on the coupon below and I'll send you a letter of instructions and I'll enclose a beautiful picture of "Honeybunch" in colors.

Here are the names of some of the little girls who have already written to me: Elma Hill, Nancy Puff, Myra Jean Lee, Betty Mae Karns, Nettie Turner, Leila Jones, Maragaret Cline, Frances Lippman, Mary Grace Harris, Charlotte-Anne Hayes, Dolores Murray, Phyllis Haberfeld, Antoinette Lambert, Mary Ellen Prescott and Bernardine Bodnar.

I'll be seein' you again tomorrow.

COAL TAX EDICT CLEARS STATE PROBLEMS

Supreme Court Rule Seen As Opening for Reforms To Bring Fairer Levies

Methods of valuing coal lands in Pennsylvania must be revised as a result of a decision handed down this week by the United States Supreme Court, which coal operators and lawyers say will have far reaching influence. The decision means coal lands must be assessed on a uniform basis and that tax authorities must take into consideration their accessibility from railroads and rivers and the time it will require to develop them.

The Supreme Court decided against the Board of Revision of Tax Assessments in Greene County over the method of valuing and assessing the Pittsburgh and river vein. The method of assessment was questioned by the Cumberland Coal Company, Piedmont Coal Company, Greene County Coal Company and Henry A. Phillips.

N. Y. JOBLESS FUND PROBED

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—(AP).—The administration of the city's $10,000,000 fund for the relief of the unemployed came sharply today under the scrutiny of the Hofstadter committee.

Samuel Seabury, chief counsel for the joint legislative committee which is inquiring into charges of graft and crookedness in New York City, made public the names of 123 persons who he said received checks one week last June from the relief fund, although there was nothing to indicate that any of the recipients had asked for relief.

The checks ranged from $5.50 to $42 and totaled slightly more than $2,000. There were several duplications in the list and many similarities of names, the counsel said. Several of the checks appeared to have been indorsed by the same person and to have cleared through the same banks.

REPORT SCORES STATE AIR UNIT

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—(AP).—Pennsylvania's National Guard air unit constituted a black mark against the efficiency of the state militia in the last year.

That organization, the 103d Observation Squadron with headquarters at Philadelphia, was singled out for criticism in the annual report of the militia bureau, made public today.

A statement from the commander of the third corps area, which includes Pennsylvania, included in the report, said:

"Except as to the proficiency in the use of weapons by the guard as a whole and the training of the 28th Division aviation, the National Guard has reached a satisfactory state of efficiency in basic training."

There was no amplification of the statement.

LONG FOE SLAIN IN LOUISIANA

NEW ORLEANS, La., Nov. 27.—(INS.)—Louisiana's already turbulent political waters were still further troubled today as the consequence of the spectacular killing of Charles Dejean, prominent adversary of Gov. Huey P. Long, by a recent convert to the Governor's cause, Judge Gilbert L. Dupre, 72-year-old state legislator.

Dejean's denunciation of Judge Dupre for the latter's switch in political allegiance prompted the shooting, which occurred on a street in the town of Opelousas. The two men met on the street and Dejean, a leading businessman, wrote his criticism on a pad of paper carried by Dupre, who is deaf.

The aged political leader returned to his office and obtained a revolver. A few minutes later the two men again encountered each other and resumed their argument. It is said that Dejean advanced on Dupre until the aged legislator threatened to shoot if the businessman took another step. Dejean advanced another step and Dupre fired.

Jewish Baby Home Will Hold Dance

Mrs. Levy

The Jewish Home for Babies and Children will hold a dance Wednesday evening, December 2, at the Syria Mosque.

Question a Day:

We have had an argument about Paderewski. Has he ever been on the radio?—G. G. C., Beechview.

Answer—He is under contract with NBC but has never played on the air in America. About five years ago he played a short recital for the British Broadcasting Company. Fritz Kreisler, the violinist, has never been heard on the radio in this country or abroad.

WE NOW PRESENT

By Darrell V. Martin
Radio Editor

Darrell V. Martin

DON BESTOR, now playing college dates in the Middle West, is due back at KDKA and a downtown hotel about Monday, December 20. . . . The sputter of machine guns and the shrieking of shells may come to you soon, direct from the battlefront in Manchuria with Floyd Gibbons at the microphone. . . . Floyd is said to be awaiting his cue (no attempt to be punny). . . . Two anniversaries tonight, the Goldbergs on WCAE at 7:45 (two years) and "Riggs and Moke" on WCAE at 11 (one year). . . . Arthur Bagley and his Tower Health Exercises have the longest run on the air . . . nine years. . . . Seth Parker is doing better as a movie attraction than Amos 'n' Andy.

Looking over the program for tonight, we see Big Bill Tilden on WJAS at 6:30, a duet of "Make Believe" on WCAE at 8 and another "Show Boat" number, "Old Man River," on KDKA at 9:30. . . . Peter Higgins, Pittsburgh tenor, is the stellar attraction on WCAE at 10:30.

Studio Lights:

Gene Tunney and Father O'Donnell, president of Notre Dame University, are to take part in the Knute Rockne tribute over CBS-WJAS at 1 o'clock tomorrow, previous to the Army-Notre Dame game . . .

When Bill Munday accidentally called Pitt "Notre Dame" in his NBC broadcast of the Cornhusking bee yesterday, he merely expressed what thousands of spectators were thinking . . . that Pitt team is the most potent eleven we have seen this year . . . and by way of compliment for all the nice publicity the boys have brought Pittsburgh in the two network broadcasts, why not stage a big celebration and put it on the air locally? The same publicity if bought by the Chamber of Commerce or the city at network rates would have cost at least $50,000 . . .

Betty Council, the girl who announces Leo Reisman's Orchestra, was born in Americus, Ga., and broke into radio on her nerve, playing the part of a mountaineer girl in a dramatic piece when she hadn't the slightest knowledge of what it was all about.

Have you picked up the musical "locomotive" of George Olsen on Columbia? . . . George is a steady fixture of CBS every night but Sunday at 11:45 and Columbia hopes to build him into the same drawing class as Morton Downey, Kate Smith, Bing Crosby, the Street Singer and others who wandered from NBC into the Promised Land . . .

Maurice Chevalier said he was through with radio but we have a tip that he and "Fray and Braggiotti," the two-piano team, are being groomed for a new feature over CBS.

Harbor Lights and Real Folks are about to leave the air and the program featuring Olive Palmer and the Revelers Quartet may switch from NBC to CBS before Christmas . . .

Linking of all five Pittsburgh radio stations for a broadcast of the Tech-Duquesne benefit game next Saturday afternoon is being considered by the committee . . . announcers and operators have offered their services gratis . . . contributions will be asked as in that charity broadcast last year when almost $3,000 was realized.

War debt cancellation is the question Oxford and Harvard will fight out on the air Saturday, December 5, in an NBC-WCAE broadcast . . .

Microphones are being installed in the golden horseshoe of the Metropolitan Opera House and we may hear one of the feature attractions via NBC early in January.

Today's Tid Bit:

Les Reis and Arty Dunn still are squabbling about that note sent them stating "We want Les Reis and more Dunn."

The Loudspeaker

— By — LOUIS REID

(News item: Sing Sing's football team is planning to play games with the police of Hudson River towns.)

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—This is Graham Husing speaking and here we are in the prison yard of Sing Sing, broadcasting a football game between inmates of the prison and the police of Peekskill. Looks like a strong team, that Sing Sing eleven—broad backs, thick legs, thick necks . . . and hands—you never saw such hands outside a prison wall. . . . Well, there's the whistle. Sing Sing is receiving the ball. . . . It goes to Joe Blutz, fullback. . . . Joe is in for five years for wife-beating and he's running as if he has just escaped. . . . They're closing in on him, though, and he's captured on his own 35-yard line. . . . Sing Sing's ball, first down, 10 yards to go. . . . Bill Clumph, right halfback, has just stolen the ball from the quarterback and he's trying to break his way into Peekskill. He ought to be successful. He's broken his way into bigger jobs. . . . Just a minute, folks, I'll give you his record. Clumph, No. 13,417, alias Jim McConley, alias Jack Howell, arrested for breaking into a Brooklyn warehouse in 1928, convicted and sentenced to Sing Sing for 10 years. . . .

"Well, Bill got away with it. He got six nice yards from the cops. And are they sore? . . . I wouldn't miss this for a million dollars. I've broadcast some unusual stunts in my time, but I never thought I'd see the day when crooks would be playing football with the cops . . . Time is out. Policeman McGillicuddy has taken the rap. He's stretched out cold on the hardest turf your announcer has ever seen . . . You don't suppose the boys are going to get away with murder this afternoon, do you? . . . Red Hope, the coach, is pacing up and down . . . Red is one coach that doesn't have to worry about his job . . . He's going to be around here for 55 years. And that's a whole lot of years. I don't mind telling you . . . Well, they're up and at it again. It's second down, four yards to go . . . And the guards are going back. I don't mean the prison guards, folks, I mean the left guard and the right guard of Sing Sing's team . . . They say Red Hope has a lot of faith in his guards, they've been so well protected all these years . . .

It's a shifty bunch, this Sing Sing team. But they ought to be, and no foolin', and sure enough they've shifted to the right end of the line . . . But the cops are right there—1,900 pounds of them, and they've stood like a stone wall before the assault . . . Sing Sing is right back where it started. A six-yard loss. The cops are going to show 'em that they can't even get away with a simple little case of assault and battery . . . Oh boy, Joe Blutz has the ball again. Joe's doing a stretch of 20 years for counterfeiting. He passed just one too many phony twenties.

FARM RESTORED BY PRISONERS

Cultivated by prisoners of Allegheny County Jail, the abandoned Parkview Poor Farm has been transformed from a shambles of ruins and overrun field into a pleasing, well-landscaped farm.

For six months 150 prisoners, all of them derelicts or petty offenders, have been at work on the place under supervision of Jail Warden John McNeil.

One wing of the abandoned institution has been turned into prison farm quarters, with barred dormitory cellrooms, a kitchen and a mess hall. The building has been painted and renovated. Flowers, lawns and walks have sprung up where junk piles and weeds once stood. This fall the prisoners harvested a bumper crop of tomatoes, cabbage, turnips, beans, beets, corn, apples and wheat.

FRESHNESS
—that's the thing!
CAMELS are never parched or toasted

HAVE you noticed the new trend in cigarettes?—freshness is the popular thing.

That's because a fresh cigarette, as demonstrated by Camels, is something smokers have discovered as better than anything they ever tried before.

Camels are fresh in the Camel Humidor Pack because they're made fresh to start with—blended of choice, delicately mild, sun-ripened tobaccos in which the natural moisture and fragrant flavors are vigilantly safeguarded.

The tobaccos in Camels are never parched or toasted—the Reynolds method of scientifically applying heat guarantees against that.

That's why we say with so much assurance that Camels are truly fresh. They're made fresh—not parched or toasted—and then they're kept fresh in the Camel Humidor Pack.

Try Camels' freshness for a change. Switch over for just one day, then change back—if you can.

Don't Go to Extremes To End Constipation

When bad breath or a coated tongue, biliousness or headache warn of constipation, don't take violent purgatives. There's no use when a candy Cascaret will stop the trouble in a jiffy), will cleanse your system pleasantly, and completely.

The relief you get so promptly from Cascarets is lasting. Cascarets are made from cascara, a substance which medical authorities agree actually strengthens the bowel muscles.

So Cascarets are a blessing to old folks with weakened bowels, to children, to anyone in need of establishing regular bowel habits. Ten cents a box—all drug stores.

WHY RISK DOPE?

Stop Your Child's Cough Safely!

"Oscar came home with a full grown cough and said, I put him to bed right away. Right away I gave him Smith Brothers' Cough Syrup. It eased the cough, soothed his throat, and he fell asleep. In the morning he woke up a full of health as ever." F. J. Ryan, 1308 E. 92 St., Cleveland, O.

CHEMICAL analysis reveals that many cough syrups actually contain DOPE . . . (Dope—that means morphine, opium, narcotics, ether, chloroform.)

But—mothers—you don't need to take chances with these DOPE cough syrups. Smith Brothers have developed a new type of syrup—efficient—fast-working—but WITHOUT DOPE. You can give Smith Brothers' Triple Action Cough Syrup even to a delicate child—without fear. It is safe. Remember this about it—SAFE! It can't harm little stomachs.

And its "Triple Action" works so surely that even stubborn coughs, or those dangerous "hanging-on" coughs, disappear quickly . . . Children actually like the taste. Only 35c.

Most Men Detest Shopping, So Why Drag Them Along, Fay King Asks Wives

By FAY KING

Perhaps at no time in all her life is a woman more interested in her appearance than when she is being courted by the young man she hopes to marry.

No matter how limited her means or her time she manages to use expert care and taste to look her best. And she does.

Now at this time she wouldn't think of taking her beau along on a shopping tour. She would not dream of having him along to see the bad effects of some unbecoming try on.

She relies entirely upon her own taste and is a happy surprise to him when she meets him looking very pretty.

So why drag a husband along on a shopping tour?

Most men detest it.

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Seek Specific Cause When Treating Neuritis

I have had numerous requests to say something about the causes and treatment of neuritis. It is difficult to describe all the causes for this disease may result from a variety of things. Its treatment is even more difficult.

Dr. Copeland

Neuritis applies to the term that applies to an inflammation of a nerve. The inflammation may be caused by, perhaps from a fall, a blow. From more or less trifling injury may damage a delicate nerve.

Frequently it is caused by poisons. These poisons may be circulating in the blood as a result of some disturbance in the body. It often follows infection of the teeth, tonsils, sinuses, gall bladder, pelvic organs, and in many instances, chronic appendicitis.

Neuritis is caused by alcohol. When taken in excessive amounts alcohol causes an irritation of the nerves which supply any part of the body. This irritation may be followed by an inflammation of the nerve with severe pain and discomfort.

Neuritis sometimes accompanies rheumatism. Indeed that disturbance is likely to be very painful at times.

It is important that the underlying cause of the irritation be determined before any definite treatment is applied. Usually, with removal of the cause the irritation and inflammation subside. Such measures as heat and, in many cases, cold applied to the parts that are involved, give relief.

With recent years excellent results have been obtained by the application of the electrical current. One such method of treatment is called "diathermy." It makes it possible to liberate heat deep in the tissues of the body in this way reaching the nerves involved.

Many persons resort to self-medication, using salves and other concoctions. The application of these remedies may give temporary relief. Such treatment is likely to be useless in the long run, because the underlying cause is not removed.

If you are a sufferer from neuritis you should talk with your physician. He will endeavor to determine what is causing the irritation.

The removal of badly infected teeth or in many cases infected tonsils is sufficient to bring about a complete cure of neuritis. If the gall bladder or appendix are greatly diseased, they must be given attention.

In short get rid of the infection wherever it is. Then the neuritis will disappear of itself.

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

"Likewise" Is Poor Form

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I went to a party and a friend of mine and I had an argument. When leaving I said to one of the guests whom I had met there, "I'm very glad I've met you." She replied, "Likewise." I think that this was incorrect and the correct thing to say was, "Thank you. I'm glad I've met you, too." My friend insists that just the word "Likewise" was correct.

Who is correct, and if we are both wrong, what is right?

R. A.

I'm so glad that you wrote about this for this use of the word "Likewise" is I believe my pet abomination in the world of correct usage. "Likewise" should never, never, never be used as an answer for anything like this. It is meaningless, awkward, graceless and in exceedingly poor form.

The pleasant comment of this kind should be answered charmingly and quite as you suggested, "Thank you. I'm most happy to have met you, too," or something like that. "I'm very glad to have met you" is a bit easier to say than the form, "I'm very glad I've met you."

But "Likewise" . . . ugh!

Remove Hat in Theater

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

In the near future I am going to attend a Saturday matinee in a well-known musical show house in this city and I understand that my seat is in the first row orchestra.

I am at a loss as to whether or not I should remove my hat, and if so, at what time, that is before the overture or just after it when the curtain is about to rise?

I am 21 years of age and my hat is of the ordinary size.

M.

Yes indeed, remove your hat. For if you don't you will probably have the disagreeable experience of being asked to remove it by someone sitting behind you whose vision you are ungraciously and selfishly obstructing.

Remove your hat at any time before the curtain goes up. Not as it is going up, or just after it has gone up, but before it goes up. If you wish you may remove it just after you have taken your seat. But that first moment of charming excitement when the curtain is rising is too much enjoyed by a theater-goer to have it spoiled by the taking off of a hat in front.

Household Hints

When vegetables grow old, or lose their zip. This only applies to fruits are scorched, discolored, stale or very dull in appearance.

Pineapple, the favorite salad medium. Have you ever served it with a sauced red pepper? Chilled on leaf lettuce leaves with whipped cream mayonnaise.

To take out hulls: a mix equal parts of powdered borax and starch with half as much salt; moisten the whole with lemon juice, spread the mixture on the hulled-out spot, and place the garment in the sun on the grass. Repeat each morning until the stain disappears.

Baby demands neatness and daintiness in her little dresses, and the best way to insure a neat finish when inserting fine swiss lace is to have a line of hem stitching done where you wish the lace to go. Cut through the hemstitching and sew the insertion on either side with fine stitches.

The Beauty Box

By HELEN FOLLETT

Time now to take a look at ——. Eruptions on the scalp or that form of dandruff which brings a sore and bleeding skin surface call for the skilled treatments of a medical man. If you have a pus pocket close to a finger nail, trot to the doctor. Moles and warts should be removed by a physician, not by a beauty shop operator, so that dangerous growths may be recognized.

Kaolin and witch hazel made into a paste and applied to the skin will help clear the pores of blackheads. Kaolin is our old friend Fuller's earth in more sanitary form. Make a paste the consistency of whipped cream. Apply, let it remain on until it flakes, lave away gently with warm water. Dry, pat in a soothing cream and rub ice atop the cream.

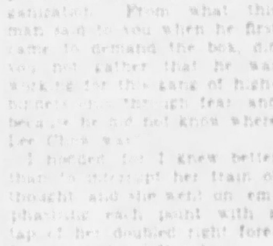
Contract Bridge -:-

OFFICIAL SYSTEM As Adopted by Leading Authorities

By E. V. SHEPARD

Overcalling Adverse No-Trumps

Watch the score. Never disturb a satisfactory condition except to improve it. Unless able either to defeat higher bidding or to go game, why bid against a non-game-going declaration made at your left? What happened on the following hand will make Z more cautious for some time to come.



Z passed. A bid 1-Spade, which both Y and B passed. Of course Z should have passed also, but he reopened the contracting with his overcall of 2-Clubs. A bid 2-Hearts, Y went 3-Clubs, B went to 4-Hearts, ending contracting.

The opening club lead enabled A to obtain a spade discard in dummy, so that he lost only a single trick in that suit, instead of losing three tricks, there as would have been the case had A been allowed to play the hand at spades. Dummy's ace enabled the declarer to gain entry to dummy for a lead of heart; the second trump lead dropped all opposing cards of the suit, after which A had nothing that he could lose except one spade and two diamond tricks, giving him four-odd.

Unless an adverse 1-No Trump can score game you never bid for a lead against that declaration made at your left. Often a player at auction felt obliged to bid for his lead, but contract awards no games unless they are actually bid. When a no-trump bid is made at your right, procedure closely follows that proven best at auction. Anticipate shifts from makes favorable to you to those that may be dangerous. Numerous holdings call for informatory doubles of no-trumps, as will be shown later, but there are five general types of holdings invariably obligating bids over no-trumps at the right, even at love scores.

However rare they may be, there are hands capable of going game against opening no-trump declarations. When fortunate enough to hold such a hand shut off any possible get-together of adversaries by at once jumping into a game make. Bid 4-spades on the next hand shown, and bid 3-no trumps on the second hand over 1-no trump either at your right or left.

PRUDENCE PENNY -:- Appetizing Recipes For Late Autumn

ROAST STUFFED SPARERIBS [illegible] pound spareribs [illegible] cup bread crumbs [illegible] cup chopped celery [illegible] tablespoons chopped onion [illegible] tablespoons chopped apple [illegible] cup sugar, ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper [illegible] tablespoons melted butter [illegible] Have the butcher cut the ribs so that it will be easy to cut between the ribs. Wipe the ribs with a damp cloth. Prepare the stuffing as follows: Fry the salt pork until crisp and remove the pieces from the skillet. Cook the celery, onion and parsley in the fat for a few minutes and remove them. Put the apples into the skillet, sprinkle with the sugar, cover and cook until tender; then remove the lid and continue to cook until the juice evaporates and the pieces of apple are candied. Mix with the apples the bread crumbs, crisp salt pork, cooked vegetables, salt and pepper. Lay one section of the ribs on a flat surface, sprinkle with salt and pepper, and spread with the hot stuffing. Cover with the other section and sew the two together. Sprinkle the outside with salt and pepper and dredge with flour. Lay the stuffed ribs on a rack in an open roasting pan and roast in a hot oven (400 degrees F.) 20 minutes, or until the meat is lightly browned. Reduce the oven temperature (moderate heat) (300 degrees to 325 degrees) and continue to cook for about an hour longer, or until the meat is tender. Remove the strings before serving the stuffed spareribs on a hot platter. Serves five.

CHEESE AND EGG SCRAMBLE—One half cup grated cheese, 1-3 cup chopped onions, 1-3 cup milk, 4 eggs, 3 tablespoons butter, ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper.

Melt the butter in pan. Add chopped onions and cook covered until onions are transparent but not worn. Beat the eggs well and add to them the milk, seasonings and cheese. Pour this mixture over the onions and stir with fork until mixture is firm. Serve on hot buttered toast and accompany with more toast. This is a grand luncheon or late supper dish and may be made at the table as easily as in the kitchen. Serves two.

EGG NOODLES AND SAUERKRAUT—1 package egg noodles, 4 cups sauerkraut, ½ teaspoon pepper, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 pound sausage.

Parboil noodles 2 minutes in 4 quarts of rapidly boiling water to which 1 teaspoon salt has been added. Drain. In a well-greased casserole place a layer of sauerkraut seasoned with salt and pepper, then a layer of noodles and continue alternating until used up, allowing noodles to form the top layer. On this place sausages which have been pricked with a fork, cover casserole, bake in a moderate oven for 1 hour. If vegetable dish is required, sausage may be omitted.

LEMON SPONGE PIE—Three egg yolks, beaten thick, 6 tablespoons lemon juice, 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind, 1 cup sugar, 3 tablespoons flour, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon melted butter, 1¼ cups milk, 3 egg whites, uncooked pastry.

Combine all ingredients, folding in last stiffly beaten egg whites. Turn into pie tin lined with uncooked pastry and put into hot oven (450 degrees F.). After 10 minutes reduce heat to moderate (350 degrees F.) and bake 20 minutes longer, or until filling is firm. Makes one pie. Variation: Bake filling without crust in individual pudding dishes.

ORANGE MARMALADE—Four medium or 3 large oranges, 4 lemons.

Slice unpeeled fruit very thin. Add five times as much cold water as fruit. Any time during the next 24 hours boil hard for 50 to 60 minutes. This should reduce quantity one-half. Measure into two- or four-cup lots. Cooking four cups or less at one time gives better flavor and color.

If oranges are rather sweet add additional lemon juice at this stage—about one tablespoon to [illegible] cup sugar for each cup of fruit. Boil rapidly until the jelly test of the spoon is reached. Pour into glasses. Cover with paraffin when cold. Makes 12 to 16 glasses.

BRAISED SQUAB—Six squabs, 2 cups water, 1 teaspoon salt, 6 tablespoons cracklings, fat, 1 onion, 2 small pieces, 2 tablespoons flour, 6 tablespoons cold water.

Cut squabs in half. Fry squabs with the onion in hot fat until browned. Add giblets, water and salt and cover tightly and simmer one hour or until tender. Remove squabs, skim off excess fat and add flour which has been mixed to a smooth paste with three tablespoons cold water, stirring constantly to keep smooth. Serve on toast with the gravy or arrange on platter, decorate with parsley or water cress and serve gravy separately. Makes 12 small or six generous servings. For delicious gravy add ½ cup chopped stuffed olives just before serving. If served at supper or party luncheon half a squab on toast with the gravy poured over it is ample.

CHOCOLATE DATE COOKIES—One and one half cups brown sugar, sifted, ½ cup butter, 4 tablespoons cocoa, 2 eggs, 2½ cups flour, 1 teaspoon soda, ½ cup hot water, pinch salt and cloves, 1 teaspoon vanilla, ½ cup chopped nut meats, 2 cups chopped dates.

Sift flour once, measure and add salt, cocoa and cloves. Sift three times. Cream butter, add the sugar gradually and cream again until light and fluffy. Add eggs, nuts, vanilla and dates. Then add flour and soda mixture alternately in small amounts. Drop by teaspoons on greased cookie sheet and bake 15 to 20 minutes.

BAKED EGGS AND CHEESE—Break the desired number of eggs in a shallow greased baking dish, and a few tablespoons of top milk and salt enough to season, and sprinkle with a mixture of grated cheese and fine dry bread crumbs. Set this dish in a pan containing hot water and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) until the eggs are set and the crumbs are brown. Just before serving add a few dashes of paprika.

* * *

ICE CREAM CROQUETTES—Pack well-frozen ice cream into croquette shaped molds or balls. Have ready ½ cup of finely crushed nut meats mixed with ½ cup finely crushed macaroon crumbs. Roll the ice cream in the nut and macaroon mixture, place on a chilled serving dish, top with whipped cream and serve immediately. These can be shaped just before serving.

* * *

CREAM OF CARROT AND PEA SOUP—Make a white sauce of 2 tablespoons butter, 1 tablespoon flour and 3 cups milk. Add 1 11-ounce can of peas pressed through a sieve (reserving a few for garnishing) and the pea liquor. Add ½ cup boiled, sieved carrot pulp and season to taste with salt and pepper. Add whole peas. Serves six.

* * *

RICE CAKES WITH PLUM JELLY—Add 1 tablespoon sugar and ¼ teaspoon cinnamon to 2 cupfuls cold left-over rice. Add ½ of the 1 beaten egg. Form into balls or flat cakes, coat with the remaining beaten egg, roll in bread or cracker crumbs and sauté until golden brown in a little butter and serve with plum jelly.

* * *

ROAST PORK APPLE DUMPLINGS are another type of apple dumplings that are particularly good with roast pork, roast duck or goose. Use a steamed dumpling dough made soft enough to drop from the end of a spoon and then a cupful of finely chopped apple added with just a dash of cinnamon. Drop into the sizzling gravy in the roasting pan 10 minutes before dinner time, then serve as a garnish about the meat.

* * *

ONION DUMPLINGS make a very good accompaniment to roast pork or veal. Use a recipe for steamed dumplings, and parboil a sufficient number of medium-sized onions, choosing white, milk-flavored ones. Core the onions and quarter half way down, and drop in bits of butter with salt, pepper and paprika to taste. Fold the dough about them, and bake or steam 15 minutes.

CRANBERRY DUMPLINGS go deliciously with fresh baked ham or they make a tempting accompaniment with roast fowl or fricassee chicken. To make them use a recipe for boiled dumplings and cut in three or four inches squares. On each place a tablespoonful of the fruit drained from cranberry sauce, then pinch together and drop into the sauce itself (cover closely and cook for 15 minutes and serve with the dumplings. To make the sauce, use 3 cupfuls of water, 2 cupfuls of cranberries and 1 cupful of sugar, and boil until the berries burst.

DATE TORTE—½ cup flour, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon baking powder, 2 eggs, ½ cup sugar, ½ teaspoon vanilla, 1 cup nut meats, 1 package dates.

Sift dry ingredients. Beat the eggs, beat in sugar gradually, add vanilla, chopped nuts and dates (sliced). Stir in dry ingredients. Bake in a shallow pan which has been lined with paper and oiled in a moderate oven (300 degrees to 325 degrees Fahrenheit) for about an hour. Cut in squares when cool. Serve with whipped cream or vanilla ice cream.

GOLDEN WEST PUDDING—One-quarter cup shortening, ½ cup sugar, 2 egg yolks, ¼ pound graham crackers, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon baking powder, 1-3 to ½ cup milk, ½ teaspoon vanilla, 2 egg whites.

Cream shortening, add sugar gradually, stir in beaten egg yolks. Crush crackers with a rolling pin (there should be 1 cup of fine crumbs), mix salt and baking powder with crumbs. Add this mixture to the creamed shortening and sugar alternately with milk. Add vanilla. Fold in beaten egg whites. Bake in a shallow pan lined with oiled paper in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for about 30 minutes. Serve warm or cold with sauce described as follows:

1-3 cup butter, 2-3 cup powdered sugar, 1 egg, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, ½ cup dates, ½ cup nut meats.

Melt butter in the top of a double boiler. Beat egg and add sugar, stir in melted butter. Return mixture to double boiler and stir until sauce thickens about five minutes. Remove from fire, add lemon juice, dates (sliced) and chopped nuts. Keep warm over hot (not boiling) water until serving time. Six servings.

This delicious fruit sauce is excellent to serve on any type of cottage pudding or simple dessert.

Pickled Foods Have a Big Part in the Diet

Many varieties of pickled vegetables and fruits appeal to palates of all nations. Health authority recommends them to add variety to meals.

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.,
United States Senator from New York.
Formerly Health Commissioner, New York City.

All over the world much use is made of pickles. They appeal to the palates of all nations.

There are whole pickles and mixed pickles, chopped pickles and varied pickled fruits and vegetables. They are put up in brine or vinegar, in mustard or mixed with other condiments.

Various trade names are used for special pickle products. For instance "chow-chow" is the term used to describe a popular form of chopped pickle which is mixed with mustard. It was called after a Chinese mixture of chopped orange peel, ginger and other substances put up in syrup. That was the original chow-chow.

Several of the common garden vegetables are used for making pickles. Among these are cucumbers, beans, onions, green tomatoes, cauliflower and green peppers.

While the cucumber pickle, in the form of gherkin, nubbins, dill pickles, etc., used to hold the floor, it is probable the olive is now most popular with many families. But to the end of time the housewife will continue to put up cucumber pickles. Well she may, for they are delicious.

I spoke of the olive and classified it with the pickles. Really that is what it is, a pickle, just as peaches and other fruits may be prepared in pickle form.

I have not mentioned the "mango," which is a pickled green pepper or mango melon, scooped out and stuffed with finely chopped pickles of some sort.

The olive in its green or ripe state is an appetizer of great delicacy. The ripe olive is an American product, coming largely from California, although Arizona is sending a considerable quantity to market. Most of the green olives come from Spain.

The olive has nourishing qualities due to the considerable percentage of oil it contains. But in this country we eat it as a relish and it is excellent for this purpose.

There are those who cry out against all pickled foods. Their criticism is directed in particular against those prepared in vinegar. I do not share this feeling about them. They are not eaten in such quantities as to do harm. To be used as an appetizer they have a real part in the diet.

I am sure that variety is an important factor in planning meals. The little dabs of jelly, the few olives, and the occasional pickles, add zest to the meal. They do away with the drab monotony of meat and potatoes.

There is a certain psychology about eating. We can't deny that if we think about it. How can we tell the public to make the meal hour a cheery, happy time, unless we have the "fixins." A cucumber pickle or two, a pickled peach, or a mango will help a lot at our meal. A dish of ripe olives, or stuffed green ones, will stimulate pleasant conversation. That helps the meal and the digestion!

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 27.

In addition to maintaining extensive wardrobes for all occasions, many film stars have particular kinds of clothes manias.

Norma Shearer, for instance, makes a hobby of tailored suits. She never has liked to be made up for summer, Joan Crawford's mania is hats. When she finds one she likes she has it made up in half dozen colors.

Madge Kennedy, who with Otto Kruger will be featured in "Private Lives," when that comedy by Noel Coward, begins at the Nixon Monday, was a popular star of the screen a number of years ago. Howsumever, she was a stage actress first so when she returned to the footlights she just took up where she left off in order to star in a series of movies that included "Baby Mine." Who remembers that one? Four years she served the filliums, and she's still a young woman. Matinees of "Private Lives" will be as per usual.

JOBLESS RISE CHECKED

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27. (AP.)—Unemployment finds the American Federation of Labor is not increasing any faster than normal just now, but the total of men out of work has reached a new peak.

For two months in succession President William Green reported yesterday, the abnormal rise noted since last February has been checked and the November total was 200,000 less than expected because farm layoffs have been light.

Green estimated the industrial unemployment now at 6,000,000 or 20 per cent of normal employment. He predicted the figure would grow to 7,500,000 by January unless increased efforts are made to keep men at work.

A high-spirited holiday audience filled Syria Mosque last night and with one voice acclaimed the Don Cossacks Russian Male Chorus. Its music was like a benediction over the listeners on whom everything else that is good had been showered on Thanksgiving Day.

These singers bring us songs of the cathedrals, the steppes of gypsy magic and prince, the music of the soil of great Russia. It is not effete music of the west nor is its performance so weltered but that it still appeals to our primitive emotions. It is virile and grand. It sweeps aside all traditions and makes us listen as we should, with our hearts.

These men were not singers until the horrors of war forced them to seek a retreat in song. Out of this necessity they have created, with the aid of that little dynamo, Serge Jaroff, a technique that may be the envy of any chorus. Their humming, their boisterous fortissimo, their solo recitative are as elevating as sermons. It was music that everyone understood.

Wednesday evening the Pittsburgh String Symphonic Ensemble, with Oscar Bianco directing, gave its third concert in Carnegie Lecture Hall. There was a more compact program than usual, some excellent songs and an interesting suite written by the director and played for the first time here.

There has been slight change in the ensemble, some new members including a harpist, but the change has hardly affected the quality of the ensemble as yet. Del Bianco's Suite was naturally the center of interest for these players. The music is inspired by the composer's memories of hours spent with his grandmother, a right entertaining and robust old lady, I should say.

The minuet and Ave Maria are both too long for the materials employed. He has a good idea for the Scherzetto; a little balancing of strings would improve the ensemble tone of this sprightly number. The Noveletto is an amusing picture taken from a fairy tale.

Ida Mae Claudy, one of the best contraltos Pittsburgh ever owned, sang two groups of songs. Her voice is mellow as always and she presents her songs with real style. Earl Truxell played her accompaniments most adequately. Pierre De Backer giving the violin obligato to the Loeffler dance song.

By JAMES J. LONG

Warner's Fine Record. Battle of Ring Giants.

PITT WINS RANKING AS EAST'S BEST

UP TO YESTERDAY the Dope Corner scouts had been about the only people on football earth willing to concede Pitt the ranking of the strongest team in the East, but there where it over the Panthers. Notre Dame's spell of doldrums against Carnegie Tech ties more precisely to the most powerful outfit ever seen on a local field with replacements pouring on a par with the regulars.

Warren Heller

NONE OF THE [illegible] been [illegible] the [illegible] 40 [illegible] Dame [illegible]

Though all the Pitt backs were brilliant with Heller again starring and Sebastian who replaced the scratch-armed Paul Reider early making everybody wonder how he had ever been kept out of the regular lineup, it was the Panther line that made it possible. No greater exhibition of line play has been seen here in an age, particularly in the matter of openings provided for the backs and the interference given to the ball carriers both on line plays and down the field.

THE HOLES CREATED and the interference provided for the backs were [illegible] with the backs [illegible] opening [illegible] operations [illegible] were able to start [illegible] touchdown stampede up.

The same [illegible] after game as outstanding by the fact that Pitt's two touchdowns were made over the Nebraska left tackle by the Panthers' left halfback Heller. The second-team All-America tackle Herb Rhea partly opposite Jim MacMurdo was forced to retire after the first two touchdowns which went through to [illegible] Rhea proved just as helpless before the Pitt onslaught as did Jack Pore in the Army game. On the fifth touchdown there was some clever cross-blocking with Rhea Cline carrying the man who will [illegible] to [illegible] Heller [illegible] the method of attack was essentially [illegible] and around the [illegible] ended the game.

FURTHER EVIDENCE OF the remarkable manner in which the Pitt line was clicking is to be found in the fact that three touchdowns were made through the opposing forwards on fourth down. That has rarely been done against any team as strong as Nebraska. Attempts to get those last few yards through the line on fourth down usually result in failure against an eleven of the Huskers size and power. While the entire Pitt line was brilliant, Hunt Morris and Ralph Daugherty stood out in particular, along with Jim MacMurdo. The guard play of Morris in the last two games was remarkable. Coach Sutherland incidentally made a neat gesture in sending the whole line off the field for the last time at the same instant, and just when the ball was in mid-field, where the seven forwards who were going out for the last time—there's all to be lost by graduation next spring—could be given an ovation by the crowd.

Pop Warner

POP WARNER once again will throw his Stanford team on an Eastern field tomorrow meeting Dartmouth in Cambridge and his Pittsburgh followers of older days are confident that the old boy has at least an even chance to keep up his great record for success in intersectional competition.

Warner hasn't enjoyed anything like a sweep in his home sector this fall. His gridders lost to California for the first time in eight years, were beaten by Southern California for the fourth time in succession and were held to scoreless ties by Washington and the Olympic Club.

BUT IN BATTLING with [illegible] Pop usually [illegible] Since he left Pitt to take charge at Stanford in 1924 he has lost only one intersectional game that to Notre Dame at the last end of the same season when the Four Horsemen trampled him 7 to 10.

His charges were [illegible] to Alabama 7 to 7, five years ago and to Minnesota 0-0 this season, but they won all the others, defeating Pitt 7 to 6, Army 54 to 13 and 26 to 0, Dartmouth 14 to 7, and Minnesota 13 to 0.

THE SAME ILL luck that has trailed Carnegie Tech all season bobbed up to spoil their chances again yesterday, when a missed point after touchdown deprived them of a tie game with New York U., which had been generally doped in the East as a certain winner by a comfortable score. That 7-to-6 win was the first victory for the Violet in four weeks, as after the Colgate game it lost to Oregon and Georgia and was held to a tie by Fordham. According to reports there is much dissension in New York U. and the coaching contract of Chick Meehan, which expires this fall, may not be renewed.

THIS IS THE first time in all of Wallie Steffen's 18 years of coaching service here that Carnegie has lost five games in one season. Previously this year the Plaid bowed to W. & J., Notre Dame, Purdue and Pitt. Five defeats in a year was the limit allowed. This was reached four times.

In 1914, Steffen's first year, the Tartans lost to Lehigh, Westminster, Pitt and Allegheny; in 1918, to W. & J., Lehigh, Cornell and Pitt; in 1924 to W. & J., Penn State, Notre Dame and Quantico Marines, and in 1927, to W. & J., Pitt, New York U. and Detroit.

IN LOSING TO Howard College down in Birmingham, 13 to 6, the Dukes shared in the misfortune of Carnegie, as this is also the first time the Bluffites have suffered five defeats in one season, under Elmer Layden.

But the Thanksgiving Day reverses will only serve to put the Skibos and the Dukes on their mettle and make them fight all the harder for the upper hand in the inevitable game here a week from tomorrow.

Victorio Campolo

TONIGHT BRINGS THE battle of the Queensberrys, mammoths, with Primo Carnera and Victorio Campolo colliding in New York over the 15-round route for the championship of the newly created dreadnought division. Bringing together a pair of battlers grossing more than a quarter of a ton, and each towering more than 6 feet 6 inches in height, it is one of the most unusual matches ever put on in this country. From this distance a decision for Carnera on points looks like the probable outcome, but the huge Italian will have no easy time of it.

TUBERS HOLD CLAIRTON TO 12-0 VICTORY

Switch, Douglas, Shannon Victors in West Penn Soccer Cup Ties

WINNER ENDS GRID SEASON UNDEFEATED

By JULIUS LEVIN

A fleet, underrated McKeesport High School football team, undefeated in eight straight games, rose almost to championship heights in its final battle of the season yesterday, but was forced to bow to a more powerful Clairton eleven in a contest that is expected to play an important role in the W P I A L title chase. The score was 12 to 0.

The battle staged on the Clairton High School field drew an overflow crowd of more than 10,000 one of the largest turnouts to see a high school football game in this section.

TUBERS SHOW STRENGTH

The victory enabled George Woodman's smooth-working grid machine to complete its regular schedule with a string of 10 successive triumphs and placed it in a fine position to claim the Western Pennsylvania interscholastic football championship. Hurst Waynesburg Scott Charleroi Monongahela Greensburg Elizabeth Aliquippa Duquesne and McKeesport fell before the onslaughts of the Woodman eleven this season. Charleroi Monongahela Greensburg and McKeesport all were unbeaten at the time they engaged Clairton.

Entering the contest the underdog the Tubers surprised the large crowd by the manner in which they held Clairton even during the greater portion of the first half. In the first quarter of the game Bill Sullivan's machine held the upper hand but the home eleven got its bearings in the second quarter and partly regained its lost prestige.

CROWD HOLDS UP GAME

It was in the second half however when the Clairton eleven struck its real stride and began its drive that was not to be checked. The crowd had surged upon the playing field during the interim and it required more than an hour to clear the gridiron.

The Tubers, weakened by the constant battering received from a fast charging Clairton line and the powereful Ken Stilley, fullback, began to show signs of wear in the third quarter. It was a break, however, that presented Clairton its first scoring opportunity in this canto. A Clairton punt was fumbled by the Tubers and recovered by the home team on the visitors' 23-yard line. Eddie Johnson, brilliant Negro halfback, then slashed his way through left tackle, eluded the secondary and sprinted the 23 yards for the first touchdown. Stilley missed the try for extra point.

Another fumble in the fourth period played an important part in Clairton's last touchdown. Spalla was unable to hold the ball and Mechlich, all-W. P. I. A. L. center from Clairton, snared the loose pigskin. Clairton however, after a short advance, lost the ball on downs. The Tubers could not gain and Clairton after regaining possession of the ball, worked it to the McKeesport 13-yard line, from which point Swetka carried it over. The try for point was low.

JAKOMAS INJURED

McKeesport played a brilliant game until Jakomas, its star back and safety man, was carried from the field in the last half. It was after this unfortunate break that Clairton started its non-stoppable drive. Burt and Milo Vidnovic, Capt. Forbes and Speer also stood out brilliantly for the losers.

With the elimination of McKeesport, only three Class A teams remain in the fight for the championship. Washington and Midland, both undefeated, having finished their regular season. The W. P. I. A. L. football committee will meet in the Fort Pitt Hotel Monday afternoon to decide what course will be taken to settle the championship. The lineup:

McKeesport		Clairton
Burt	L E	Kalick
Bodnick	L T	M. Vidnovic
Zavacky	L G	Matz
Mancini	C	Speer
Milo Vidnovic	R G	Uher
Forbes	R T	Forbes

Jakomas	Q B	Schultz
Spalla	L H	Johnson

Score by periods: McKeesport 0 0 0 0 — 0; Clairton 0 0 6 6 — 12.

Substitutions: Clairton, Hecht, Brenner, Mechlich, Mackowski, McRoberts, McKeesport, Hall, Hague, Touchdowns, Johnson, Swetka. Referee, Dana, Umpire, Fye. Butchkosky, Linesman, Horigan. Time of periods, 12 minutes.

SWISSVALE UPSETS DOPE

Ed Paulie's Swissvale eleven beaten four times in a row by Edgewood, upset the dope yesterday at Swissvale when it handed Pickett's Class B team its first setback of the season, 13-0.

Monessen defeated Charleroi at Charleroi, 14-6; Apollo defeated Vandergrift, 12-0; Beaver Falls boxed out New Brighton, 13-12; Jeannette defeated Tuttle Creek Union, 6-0; Erie East defeated New Castle 7-6, and Monongahela and Donora battled to a 6-6 deadlock.

CORNELL BEATS PENN, 7-0

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 27. An 80-yard march by Cornell in the first period provided the only score of the Ithacans' 7-0 victory over the University of Pennsylvania in a hard-fought battle before 70,000 here yesterday. The visitors required eight smashes at the line to take over the ball from the six-yard line, Viviano accomplishing the trick. Fullback Handleman kicked the goal.

Penn's students prevented the Cornell cohorts from tearing down the goal posts after the game.

It will be Brothers Night at Motor Square Garden next Monday, with kid brothers of three famous boxers strutting their stuff for the delectation of the cash customers and the specialled working press.

Tony Herrera, of Chicago, seeking to avenge a defeat by Johnny Jadlich in the 10-round main bout, will have his younger brother, Carlos, in there with Davy Grove of the North Side, and formerly of Ohio, in the eight-round semi-final. They are welterweights.

The opening bout will bring together Tony Marino, of Duquesne, brother of Tommy Ryan, who boxed the leading bantamweights of the land a decade ago, and Tony Shea, of Chicago, brother of the famous Eddie Shea.

MARINO HIGHLY TOUTED

Marino is highly touted, following a brilliant career as an amateur and a good start in the professional ranks. His manager, Reed Brown, predicts that within a year he will be an outstanding main bout attraction. The kid is fast, a good boxer and a fair puncher. He can make 112 pounds, but probably will enter the ring scaling about 115. Tommy Ryan, his brother, now managing boxers out of Buffalo, made ring history by boxing Kid Williams, Abe Goldstein and Pal Moore in bouts that turned 'em away in McKeesport, and also met all of the other crack bantamweights of his time in bouts around the country.

U. S. Carpentier, of New Kensington, and Angelo Vergione, of Swissvale, box the second bout on the Garden card.

Between Rounds

Jimmy Perry, former star local welterweight and middleweight boxer, and a hero of one who fought the best of them in his time, is planning to get back into the fight game in some capacity, likely as a manager or trainer of boxers.

John Cichocki, amateur middleweight is working out daily with Tiger Joe Weil, who has recovered from his illness and is ready to step again.

Roger Bernard is matched with Benny Andrieus at Flint, Mich., December 15, and with Eddie Shea in a Christmas fund show in Detroit, December 17.

Midget Wallgast, the flyweight champion, and Speedy Dado, Filipino, are paired for a return bout at Oakland, Cal., next Wednesday. Wallgast won their first meeting.

Young Joe Pace will box Mose Brown in a three-round exhibition on the special card for the week of the Fourth Ward in Motor Square Garden December 11.

The entries close tomorrow night for the Western Pennsylvania amateur championship tournament to be staged in the Palisades Rink, McKeesport, next Wednesday and Thursday nights.

Tom Saunders, of Beaver Falls, meets Midget Mike O'Dowd in the main bout at Wheeling December 7.

Kid Chocolate will box Maxie Leiner in the 10-round main bout of a benefit show for Mark Bell now totally blind in the St. Nicholas Arena, New York, Monday night. Other boxers who are donating their services include Eddie Fitzmorris, Joe Barbara and Mel Aragon.

VANDERBILT BEATEN

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 27. Vanderbilt was defeated in its final game of the season as Alabama drove to a 14 to 6 victory yesterday. It was the first time in 18 years the Commodores have lost as many as four Conference contests in one season.

Action as Pitt Won and Tech Lost Turkey Day Battles

ONLY CHANCE

Tormey, Pitt center (second from left), intercepting forward pass on his goal line and running back ball to end Nebraska's only threat, near end of first half, in its 40-0 rout at the Stadium yesterday.

HELLER GALLOPING . . . . . HE SCORED FOUR TOUCHDOWNS

Pitt has a heck of a feller in Heller, its speedy halfback, according to the Nebraska team, which saw him tear off gain after gain and personally tallies all of the Panthers' first four touchdowns, after which he turned the scoring duties over to Mike Sebastian, who added two more. All-America stuff? You tell 'em, Huskers!

STEWART STREAKING FOR TALLY AFTER CATCHING FORWARD PASS

Carnegie Tech lost 7-6, to New York University, in their game at the Yankee Stadium yesterday. The Tartans scored first, in the opening period, when Stewart caught a pass from Quarterback Dueger and raced over the goal, a 60-yard play. Stewart's failure to kick the goal robbed the Skibos of a tie when the Violet converted its chance after it scored in fourth period.

PITT CRUSHES NEBRASKA

as big league as Nebraska and you have something on the ball beside a wish. Pile up 23 first downs and 437 yards from scrimmage and you can boast power. Turn the opposition back with nine first downs and 23 yards from rushing the ball and you can brag for the remainder of your days. Remember, the Huskers held the vaunted Northwestern team, champions of the Big Ten, to a 19-7 score and won the Big Six title from Kansas. Kansas Aggies, Drake, Missouri and Iowa State without losing a game. I think the Pitt triumph was as impressive and spectacular as any Panther team ever has tallied. In two games now, against major opponents, Army and Nebraska, Pitt has run up 66 points against exactly none for the opposition.

HUSKERS PRAISE PITT

I talked with Capt. Koster, with Ely, Justice, Masterson, Saur, Brown, Rhea and other Husker players after the game, and so did Ducky Holmes, himself a former all-America halfback at Nebraska. The Cornhuskers were unanimous in declaring Pitt the greatest eleven they'd ever met. They classed it as being more powerful than Northwestern or the Kansas Aggies.

Said Capt. Koster:

"They do everything right. They are clean, but they hit hard. The team was 100 per cent stronger than the one we tied last year. Personally, I think Pitt has the best team in the country. I'm sorry about Reider and hope he recovered o. k. Our hats are off to Dr. Sutherland and Capt. Eddie Hirshberg and the boys."

The Panthers marched 85 yards for the first score. Taking the ball after Rocco Cutri had intercepted a pass on the five-yard line and being nailed on the 15, the Blue and Gold drove impressively down the field. A well-flung forward pass, Heller to Hirshberg, netted 23 yards and provided the big gain of the drive. Reider and Heller alternated at pounding at the Nebraska tackles on reverses until Reider was injured, and then Sebastian took up the job where the Bulldog left off. Finally, with the pigskin on the three-yard mark, Heller crashed through between right guard and tackle for a touchdown. Big Jim MacMurdo missed the try for the extra point.

In the second quarter, Heller went over again. A Nebraska punt, booted by Saur, traveled only 21 yards and Pitt took the ball on the 'Husker 47. Sebastian cut off tackle for 13, Heller passed to Mike for 15 and then the Shadron Kid hammered the line to the five when the quarter ended.

HELLER SCORES AGAIN

Mike took it twice more to the one-yard line and then Heller slid over. This time MacMurdo's boot was O. K.

The 'Huskers refused to quit. Exhorted by Capt. Koster, a fine guard, the boys from the Middle West fought back, and thanks to a well-directed passing attack carried the ball from their own nine-yard line, where they'd obtained it on downs, to Pitt's five, but here Joe Tormey, of Erie, intercepted a pass and the half was over. This aerial barrage was laid down by Saur and Baur, and the passes were handled by Kreitzinger, Saur and Masterson, and handled very well, indeed. In fact, Nebraska made Pitt's defense look foolish while all this heaving was going on. But Tormey took matters into his own hands and the day was saved.

Heller turned in a pip of a 22-yard sprint to put the ball on the one-yard line in the third quarter, after the boot-off, and then crashed over for the score. He broke through the center of the 'Husker line and could have run from here to Joliopi on the play without being tabbed. Big Jim legged another placement for the additional point.

Later in the period, after the 'Huskers had been forced to kick, Sebastian tore off a run of 42 yards to put the ball on the Cornhusker 14. Jimmy Clark carried it to the 10 and then Heller chased around end with no one closer to him than the customers in the box seats for the tally. MacMurdo split the uprights with his try for the extra point.

PUT GAME IN

That made the score 27-0 and as far as Pitt was concerned the ball game was over. The same went for the 'Huskers.

Heller may have been through but Sebastian was just getting started. Those dashes through the line, although they did not result in touchdowns, had whetted Mike's appetite, the young man from Sharon was rearin' to go. So he did, in the last period. He went for two scores and threw scare after scare into the ranks of the now disheartened Cornhuskers.

Mike scored first on a reverse around left end on the second play of the final period. He'd toted the ball himself from the 22-yard mark to two on a jab at tackle and after Heller was piled up by a fighting 'Husker line, Mike power-housed across.

Big Jim MacMurdo, all-America tackle, gentleman and a great football player, kicking for the extra point for the last time of his career, booted the ball over for the thirty-third point, and then with the cheers of the multitude ringing in his ears, and greeted as he left the field by the warm grasp of his coach, strode off the field with the remainder of the senior line.

The second stringers put over a score to add to the discomfiture of the 'Huskers. It was Mike who tallied, after taking an accurate pass from Heller. It was the latter's last gesture of a great afternoon, which stamped him as one of Pitt's best. He left nothing to be desired, and keen-eyed critics in the stands saw in the big Steelton lad a likely candidate for all-star honors next year.

There is much that could be written about yesterday's game. It was well that Pitt came through, as both Carnegie and Duquesne failed, even though both made valiant tries. Pitt, beaten only by Notre Dame, brought a great campaign to a close. The boys gave all they had against the Irish and then were able to come back and take Penn State, Carnegie, Army and Nebraska in a row.

MAY GO TO COAST

Perhaps they'll have further chance to prove their mettle, for it is not without the range of possibility that a charity game may be arranged, or that the locals may be invited to meet Southern California in the Rose Bowl on New Year's Day. But, if they are through, I think all will join in a loud and long huzzah, a testimonial to Capt. Hirshberg and his gallants for a fine campaign that brought gridiron honor and glory to this city.

After all, they gave their best, which is all anyone can ask.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 27.—(INS.)—A. C. Bostwick's Mate redeemed itself in the $10,000 added Thanksgiving Handicap here yesterday, winning its last start of the season and running ahead of Dr. Freeland, which beat it in the Southern Maryland event last week.

Panka didn't notice it before his record-breaking quick knockout defeat by Tony Galento the other night, but there are just 13 lights above the ring at Motor Square Garden, five large ones and eight small ones, and that condition ought to spell bad luck for somebody . . . The tip is out that Frank (Dundee) Rodgers, the Sto-Rox star, will be up for a chance in the big show next season . . . Rodgers finished last season with Baltimore in the International League and batted .414, with 12 hits in 27 times at bat, and the Washington Senators have their eyes on him . . . His home run with a man on base eliminated Al Mamaux's Newark Bears from the pennant race.

Few football series between major football teams have been as one-sided as that between Pennsylvania and Cornell, the annual Thanksgiving Day feature in Philadelphia dating back to 1893 with Penn winning 27 games, losing eight and tying two up to yesterday's fiascs. . . Perhaps it is only in line with the general deflation of things that the U. S. G. A. should do away with the balloon golf ball. . . Did you know that E. F. (Kid) Mohler, father of Orv Mohler, the Southern California quarterback, was the captain of the San Francisco baseball club and was a crack midget left-handed second baseman and that Orv himself plays shortstop in baseball?—HARRY KECK.

MORGAN SETS DOWN CURRY ELEVEN, 3-0

By TOM BIRKS

Real action marked West Penn soccer cup ties yesterday. The big battle was staged at Husher Field, Mansfield, where the Union Switch and Signal eleven defeated Gallatin 1 goal to 0.

Morgan had little difficulty defeating Curry 3-0 at Morgan. At Westinghouse Stadium, German Sport Club supplied the fans by scoring three goals, but these were not enough. Clan Douglas winning 5 goals to 1. Shannon defeated Marshall 1 goals to 0.

In the West Penn Junior cup, the Gallatin Braves bumped Hunter 9 goals to 0 in their third meeting.

The Hunter-Fenelon battle was played to a capacity crowd and was one of the finest contests of the season. Jack Campbell's club scored its only goal in the first half. Marshall Switch inside right got loose and smashed in a shot that Miller Gallatin goalie never had a chance to stop.

The scheduled Central League game between Union Switch and Clan Douglas at Westinghouse Stadium tomorrow has been postponed to a later date. The Switch lineup:

Gallatin		Switch
Miller	G	Miller
Fisher	L B	Fisher
Bush	R B	Bush
Bush	C	Bush
Frank	L H	Pearce
Marshall	C	Pascarelli
Mathis	R H	Thomas

N. Y. U. BEATS TECH, 7-6

The Violets couldn't get the pigskin past midfield.

Then came the third period, and with it a New York University eleven that has fire in its collective eyes. Instead of staying back in its own territory and weakly trying to turn back the Tartans' assault, the Violets took the offensive and held it from the opening kickoff to the final gun. When the game ended Tech was fighting valiantly on its own eight-yard line, trying to avert another touchdown.

PANTHERS CLICKED

"I thought our boys would be great today and they did not disappoint," said Coach Sutherland as he discussed the overwhelming victory of his players. "Every player appeared to be on edge for the contest and they had the faculty of doing the right thing at the right time through most of the game. The fighting was much harder than one would glean by looking at the score. Nebraska played a hard game all the way but our plays were clicking and when you have a good team doing its stuff properly it is hard to stop."

Coach Dana X. Bible of the Cornhuskers clearly had no excuse to offer for the one-sided defeat of his Big Cornhuskers. In fact he complimented Sutherland as soon as the final whistle sounded.

BIBLE PRAISES PITT

"Jock, let me congratulate you on your wonderful team!" exclaimed the coach of the invaders. "Your club is not only brilliant, it knows how to do everything the way it should be done."

Bible later said he thought the Panthers would stand an excellent chance to defeat Southern California on the score that Pitt made against the Trojans in the opening game. The Panthers are not considered as a first choice, but if they should be named as opponents for the Trojans they would render a fine account of themselves in the opinion of Bible.

NEW YORK BOND MARKET

Bond Houses Plan Change in Policies

BY GEORGE B. SNYDER

BOND SALESMEN OF THE FUTURE will be advisors first and salesmen afterward. This statement was made by Stuart P. Meech, professor of finance at the University of Chicago, in an address to 150 bond salesmen attending a class sponsored by the Investment Bankers Association of America at Chicago.

The remark was made in preface to an analysis of foreign currency developments. It was not the main theme of the professor's talk, but it placed a finger upon a major problem of the investment securities business.

Some students of finance believe that the professor is unduly optimistic in his prediction, but they admit that, if such a development ever should take place, it would guard against many future troubles of the investment business.

The boom years preceding the market collapse of 1929 constituted the great age of the super salesman. High pressure selling may have been a good thing for many industries, but its advantage has been extremely doubtful in the distribution of securities.

Unfortunate Bond Issues

THE BUSINESS OF UNDERWRITING and selling stocks and bonds reached an unprecedented volume in 1928 and 1929. In earlier years the needs of business for new capital gave this development its initial impetus. In the final years of the last business boom the investment houses found themselves with large organizations and heavy overhead costs. It became necessary to market a steady stream of new issues to meet these expenses and to show a profit. The machinery for selling securities became topheavy. Investment bankers who were noted for their conservatism in the past changed their policies under the pressure of what was believed to be a new era.

They became less careful about the quality of the stocks and bonds which they were offering to the public. The necessity for constantly moving new securities into the hands of investors forced them to resort to high pressure sales tactics which would have amazed security dealers of an earlier time.

Management Trusts

THE FINAL YEARS OF THE BOOM found many investment organizations taking controlling positions over large groups of companies. To maintain this control without permanently tying up their capital, the management investment trust was brought into existence. The securities of these companies had to be sold to the public and the pressure on the sales forces was increased.

The "new era" culminated in a period of high pressure selling which forced securities of dubious value on the hands of investors. When the crash came the older investment bankers found that they had sacrificed reputations and good will which had been built up over long periods of years.

Investment Counsel

THE ACTION OF THE SECURITIES markets in the past two years and the virtual buyers' strike of investors has brought the financial houses to the realization that they have at least knocked out the goose that layed the golden eggs.

Many investment bankers have realized the advisability of returning to older ways of doing business. They now believe that it will be necessary for their salesman to be advisors first and salesmen afterward. The extent to which they will retain this belief when business recovers will be the measure of their real integrity.

INVESTMENT TRUSTS

"I'll stand by it!"

"I'll stand by tobacco... in good times, in hard times...
all kind of times...it helps a whole lot!

"I GREW up with tobacco. Mostly I smoke cigarettes now—but I've smoked plenty of cigars, and pipes, too. And I never got anything but good from tobacco in any form—pipe, cigar, or cigarette—and that goes for every smoker I ever heard about.

"Why, I remember as a boy, way back, how the old folks in the fall used to pick and cure tobacco from a little patch they'd raised, and save out the best for their own smoking. And my father fought all through the war, and lived to be ninety.

"He'd certainly appreciate what we get today, though. Just think about these CHESTERFIELDS of mine—fine tobaccos from all over the world, and cured and blended just so; you couldn't get anything purer, or milder. Cleanest factories you ever saw, too—never a hand touching the cigarettes...everything up to date.

"A big improvement over the old ways...reckon that's why I like CHESTERFIELDS so much. I notice most of my friends get a lot of pleasure out of them, too.*

"But what I started out to say was, you can always depend on tobacco, no matter how things are going. Probably there was never anything in the world that meant so much to so many people, and cost so little, as tobacco—whatever way they smoke it.

"Yes, sir—I'll stand up for tobacco as long as I can strike a match!"

*NOTE. In the sections where tobacco grows and where people know tobacco, Chesterfield is usually the largest-selling cigarette.

The Ford Motor Works plan to increase operations about mid-December and in a measure this is expected to offset declines in other units.

Railroad earnings for October continue to reflect the falling off recorded by the first 20 roads to report. Combined earnings of this group showed net operating income of $23,295,000, a decrease of 28 per cent compared with October last year. Relatively, this showing was better than in September, when the same roads reported a falling off of 35.8 per cent.

Morrill Assails Chain Store Tax

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—Every businessman knows from personal observation that much of the increase in taxes required for the support of government can be laid at the door of sheer extravagance and inefficiency, Albert H. Morrill, president of Kroger Grocery and Baking Company, asserted today in a statement to members of the National Chain Store Association, of which he is also president.

He expressed the conviction that businessmen and the public generally, who have viewed the efforts at chain store taxation with equanimity from the sidelines, will find that this tax concerns them vitally, as it indicates the direction in which legislatures are going.

October Employment Lower in Chicago

CHICAGO, Nov. 27.—(AP)—Industrial employment in the Seventh Federal Reserve District reached a new low level in October, the 630,928 men employed the week of October 15 showing a decline of 7.9 per cent from September 15.

Payrolls, however, declined only 0.8 per cent, indicating that a large number who had been on part time employment were laid off during the month. This the Reserve Bank survey pointed out, the average weekly earnings of all employed advanced from $22.99 in September to $24.77 in October.

The Chilean government offered holders of bills and short-term creditors an additional 6 per cent interest and renewal of commission of 1 per cent in cash.

Proposed Copper Tariff Causes Split in Ranks Of Producers

Within the week two large corporations have announced plans for the strengthening of substantial portions of their bonded indebtedness. Many other corporations like these two are burdened with large cash balances, which because they cannot be employed profitably either in business or the money market are something in the way of "white elephants." By using such funds a double purpose would be served first in bringing down overhead and prior charges and secondly in getting a formidable part of such idle funds back into public hands and thus bolstering public purchasing power.

A brokerage house has compiled a number of factors to account for the recent disheartening action of the market. It point out among other things that for several weeks the trend of stocks has been in close harmony with the wheat market, with grain leading and the stock market following. Weakness while growing more selective is unfortunately most insistent in issues formerly enjoying a high investment standing such as United States Steel, New York Central and Western Union.

There is selling to establish tax losses on the part of investors and the rearrangement of portfolio holdings by investment trusts.

Earnings of National Dairy Products Corporation in both September and October were somewhat better than in the same months of 1930, due partly to the warm fall weather. Since annual dividend requirements of $2.60 a share were more than earned in the first eight months, there is every indication that earnings for the year will run between $3.40 and $3.50 a share for its 6,263,141 shares of stock. In the full year 1930, net was $26,387,376, or $4.10 a share on 6,202,107 common shares.

A steady stream of "cash" trades in Nash Motors aroused much interest in the market position of that stock. The situation today served to recall the spectacular struggle which took place in Nash several years ago when brokers acting for company bankers stood in the breech and thwarted efforts then afoot to break the stock through the low 50's. Cash trades in the stock today were at levels about a full point above the prices ruling on regular trades, suggesting that those purchasing on a cash basis were rather anxious to obtain the stock. In lieu of other explanation it was assumed that some group, short of Nash had been called upon to deliver the stock today and finding it difficult to "borrow" proceeded to secure such requirements through outright purchases.

Stock exchange memberships, like securities, are subject to the influence of unfavorable conditions ruling at the moment. Following the general downward trend in force a seat was sold today at a sharp discount from the level at which the last previous transaction was made. The latest sale was made at $157,000, a drop of $23,000, and left the prevailing price practically at the previous low of $156,000. Slack trading and lack of public interest offer ample explanation for the status of things in that direction.

Armstrong Cork's Book Value $34.66

The Armstrong Cork Company continues in a strong and liquid financial position. In a letter to stockholders, it is pointed out that as of October 31, 1931, the book value of the company's stock after making provision for all outstanding bonds, bills payable, etc., was $34.66 per share.

COTTON PRICES SHOW LOSS

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—Cotton opened barely steady today at a decline of 7 to 9 points on southern selling and lower Liverpool cables. January sold off to 6.06.

There was also some selling by Wall Street and New Orleans but the decline seemed to uncover a good many trade buying orders which included a considerable demand from brokers with Japanese connections. This checked the decline around 8.04 for January and 8.40 for May, but prices were within a point or two of the lowest around 10:30 o'clock.

Liverpool cables said that some weakness in that market had been caused by selling on lower [illegible] weakness in Alexandria and reported unsettled conditions in Manchester with buyers cautious. Exchange cotton futures in Alexandria were 14 to 41 points lower and the spot quotation for Indian cotton in Liverpool was 6 points lower.

There was some covering and trade buying which caused slight bulges but the midday market showed net declines of about 7 to 9 points.

GRAINS PLUNGE DOWNWARD

CHICAGO, Nov. 27.—Influenced by severe breaks in British exchange rates and by weakness of Wall street securities, grain prices plunged downward early today under general selling. The tumble in sterling amounted to more than 6 cents. Opening 1⅞ to 3¼ cents lower, Chicago wheat futures afterward held near the initial range. Corn started ⅝ to 1½ down and later rallied somewhat.

An overshadowing development in the wheat trade was the drastic slash in British exchange rates. This entirely eclipsed a falling off in Black Sea shipments, adding impetus to selling pressure here. It was apparent absence of export demand for wheat from North America and rain and snow in domestic winter wheat territory.

On one of the downsweeps in wheat values went to 18½ cents a bushel below the high point of November 9. Simultaneously corn fell to more than 10 cents under the recent maximum.

The following quotations on the Chicago Board of Trade are reported by A. Master & Co.:

AIR FARM BODY FINANCES

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—(INS.)—The Farmers' National Grain Corporation, organized by farmers' co-operatives with a capital of $10,000,000, has paid $332,053 in dividends in two years upon a paid-up subscription of only $76,500, George S. Milnor, its general manager testified today before the Senate Agricultural Committee.

The organization's profits, made at a time when the Grain Stabilization Corporation, another farm board-aided body was suffering heavy losses aroused the committee's interest.

Milnor explained the Stabilization Corporation had been organized to stabilize and fix the prices of grain while the farmers' national units was established to merchandise the grain for co-operatives. He said the Farmers' National, on October 31, owed the Farm Board $16,185,000 and conceded that it relied "chiefly on this borrowed money for its operation."

Questioned by Senator Norris (Rep.), of Nebraska, Milnor said that the co-operatives were entitled to all the profits and would have to bear the losses of the Farmers' National while the government stood in the same position for the grain stabilization corporation. Norris suggested:

"Wouldn't it be wise for the Farmers' National never to take a loss, and always to let the Stabilization Corporation take the loss?"

Milnor replied:

"The Farmers' National never has taken a loss."

Milnor estimated the "paper loss" of the Grain Stabilization Corporation at $110,000,000.

Imogen Is Curious About Laurel's Adventure After Party

CHAPTER VII

"Laurel—did you or didn't you fall for him?"

Imogen—her mind set at rest about Roger—raised herself on one elbow from her rug and quizzed her friend about the handsome stranger who last night had come to her rescue.

"Fall for him? How much does that include?"

"Oh, ho! You get me perfectly."

"No, I do not. Unload what's on your mind! Come right out in meeting, Imogen!"

From the undergrowth a bright-eyed little rabbit peeped out at them.

"Well, on your own confession, weren't you alone with your handsome Adonis till 3 o'clock this morning? I wasn't born yesterday, and I can't believe the whole thing was confined to—er—just kissing."

"He bandaged my head after dabbling the cut with cold water."

"That all?" Imogen had the grace to look momentarily confused since she herself—and her jealousy—had been responsible for this need of medical attention on the part of her friend.

"Well, he dabbed iodine on the spot since you're so darn curious."

"And you were mooning with him for ages in a roadhouse."

"No—not mooning. I wouldn't call it that," said Laurel thoughtfully. "d'you know, Im, he was terribly—attractive."

"Well, honeymaking, then! Out with it!"

"What on earth d'you mean?"

"That he's a handsome female . . . and you're of the opposite sex."

"Goodness, Im! You talk so—sort of queerly."

"Well, what were you doing all that time, boxed up in that place?"

"What do you think was happening?"

"No one can tell me—but him—or yourself."

Laurel felt oddly shaken by this conversation. She felt a kind of resentful anger against Imogen, too . . . and yet she wanted Imogen to go on . . . wanted to gauge what was really in Imogen's mind . . . it was as though two different entities were struggling within her own being.

She wished that Imogen would not stare so with that semi-amused semi-sarcastic smile of hers.

Don't forget curiosity killed the cat, old dear," she contrived to fling out with a brave attempt at nonchalance.

Don't stall, Laurel—you're pretty, God forbid, just now, all warm and confused like this, darned if you aren't a rain beauty."

Hm! You'll be telling me next that I'm opening up like a morning glory."

And why wouldn't you? What's to hinder you?"

"Hark at the girl!"

"Don't plain. I'm wise to you, Lassie."

Well, we all seem to be hitting the broad highroad. Why pick on me?

A STRANGE LAUREL

Because I think at heart you are old-fashioned."

"How smart she is! Why don't you write a play? Or do some rude dialogue for the talkies?"

But Laurel, disliking Imogene at this moment still wanted her to go on . . . wanted her to continue this heady exciting conversation.

Imogene turned round on her rug and faced the sun. It shone beneficently on her beautiful, almost naked body.

She stretched her arms above her head with a theatrical gesture. "In my last incarnation I must have been a Pagan . . . a sun-worshipper . . . just as in this cycle I adore freedom and self-expression," she announced with a deep breath.

"Freedom for what?"

"For whatever looks good to me. I do what I want."

"The clever one is she that kirks over the traces."

"Meaning yourself?"

"Why, certainly. But what about YOU? I'd like to know? Sometimes you act perfectly devilish . . . and the next minute you look like a Madonna!"

"A deceiving gal I would seem."

"No. I'm not sure. I don't think you are really hypocritical."

"Thanks for them kind words. Since on your own admission you have flung away the shams do you get such a terrific kick out of the—er—real?"

Maybe I do and maybe I don't. But thank heaven, I'm rid of hypocrisy."

Who taught you all this, Im? Are you so sure you're smart? Maybe with that code the women get the worst of it in the long run."

Imogen stared at her friend. This was a different Laurel from last night . . . from any old time. Under what new influence was she talking?

I mean to say . . . petting and petting and drinking and getting one's blood pressure up aren't so original . . . the rough necks have been doing that for centuries, Imogen. Cutting loose isn't so hot or new as you think, old dear. The plebians have been hitting it up like that for a long time."

The women? you mean."

I mean that the emancipation isn't so brilliantly diverse as we thought . . . and when the whoopee's ended, the hellish lingers on . . . in more ways than one."

Heavens! Apart from your having over what on earth have YOU been up to that you're now regretting, Laurel?" And with eyes bright with anticipation that was not unmixed with malice, Imogen stared at her.

Sorry to disappoint you, but you're on the wrong track."

Out with it, Laurel! Out with the murky secret!"

"There is none."

"Rats!"

"What about the handsome chap last night? You haven't given me a full account of that . . ."

Are you my father-confessor, Im? Just because I suddenly went cold all over all your blessed pants I suppose you think when he found me he put a 1,000-volt battery on me to galvanize me back to life? Well, you're all wet. The truth is he bound up my wound like a Good Samaritan, gave me black coffee in a roadhouse, so as to pull what was left of my woolly wits together, read me the Riot Act and took me home."

Laurel felt it might be dangerous to confide in Imogen.

Was that all?" In her eagerness to hear something of a spicy nature, Imogen coiled round towards Laurel with a fluid motion that was almost like that of a boa-constrictor.

Yep. Sorry to let you down. What did you think?

Imogen was silent. Laurel declared that Imogen's eyes were green. Green like a cat's.

Or was that merely the effect of the woodland surroundings?

Or the intense curiosity of Imogen, which had narrowed the pupils of her eyes till they were pin-points?

Suddenly Laurel felt it might be dangerous to confide in Imogen that Imogen wasn't quite the friend she seemed.

She ruled last night's behavior "out," of course. Last night poor Imogen hadn't been in control of herself.

Did her supposed friend really care for Roger Sartoris? Whatever their relationship might be could one grace it by the name of love?

Imogen laughed love—in the sentimental meaning of the term—to scorn. She would substitute in its place what she called a "grand pash" . . .

"Grand pashes" didn't last long apparently.

But what ruled Imogen's scheme of life—in regard to men—was a superfluity of the almighty dollar!

Money!

If Imogen married—and that young lady fully intended to—it would be for cold cash.

"Afterwards one can amuse oneself." Imogen had avowed with a sophisticated shrug of her shoulders.

"You mean that if you were crazy about a man, unless he were rich you wouldn't marry him?" Laurel had probed.

Imogen's eyes had narrowed calculatingly. She said, cryptically: "MY way about being crazy over a man probably wouldn't be YOURS."

But aren't we all daughters of Eve? You know how it is when love hits us in the solar plexis?"

Laurel had been intrigued. "Go on. Tell me the rest of your theories. In a French novel someone lent me, after she was married, the heroine found a—a . . ."

"Lover?" supplemented Imogen.

Well, yes."

"Why not? The way men act all over the world these days who could blame her?"

"But it isn't playing the game."

"It's playing it exactly as men play it, Laurel."

But there must be lots of decent men in the world?"

What d'you mean by decent?"

"Who wouldn't deceive anyone . . ."

"Whoops! They'd be insipid!"

"Well, I like the faithful kind—not the horrid old Bluebeards."

"Oh, you're only an infant!"

But in Laurel's impressionable mind this conversation had lingered.

Laurel had a dash of Latin blood in her, mixed with Scotish and pioneer American.

Imogen informed her, teasingly, that that was a "helluva combination."

"Goodness! A girl like you—"

The inference was that the earth and everything therein contained was at Laurel's slim young feet, would she but snatch it!

Also, because of the mixed blood from her ancestors, that she was the possessor of a devilish fascination.

If she would but yield to it, that is. BE HERSELF! That was one of Imogen's pet phrases.

"You're as full of inhibitions as an egg's full of . . . whatever an egg's full of," quoth the oracle, impressively.

"And out of a big creel of oysters, you're the one lone pearl!" Laurel had shown unexpected spirit at the conclusion of her friend's diatribe.

"D'you know, Laurel, you really ought to be psycho-analyzed."

"Me? Whoops! I'd love it."

"Right. I'll take you to a wiz. But his fee is $15."

Laurel had shrugged her shoulders, turning the palms of her hands upwards.

"Dad gives me all I want. I can stand the racket."

"If I were only in your shoes!" Imogen invariably claimed to be hard up. She was an orphan.

"I'll pay for you, too, Im," volunteered Laurel, generously.

She didn't know . . . indeed, so clever was Im, that few did know . . . that in nearly all of her transactions Imogen got a rake-off."

* * *

It had been thrilling—though rather spooky—that interview.

The psycho-analyst had put the most intimate kind of questions to Laurel.

At first, Laurel had been chary of answering them, because Imogen, too, had stayed in the room.

But gradually that particular "inhibition" had been loosed . . . and Laurel had answered the prober frankly, and yet franker still . . .

Because it was awfully fascinating to talk about oneself, and hear one's innermost self discussed at length as though one were really of terrific importance . . . !

It was only later, when the spell was over, that Laurel wondered what Imogen had thought? . . . Imogen, who now had learned so much about her young friend Laurel!

Synopsis

Laurel Oakes, 19, thoroughly "modern," finds that she will be alone at dinner. She flirts with Roger Sartoris, 29, blase, jaded young man who is infatuated with her. Imogene Gay invites Laurel to a "moonlight party." Laurel drives her roadster out to a deserted farm house where she finds many of her friends intoxicated, having a gay time. The party becomes rowdy and Imogene hits Laurel with a glass. Laurel runs from the house. Finding her tires slashed she runs down the road and is rescued by young Dr. Bruce Harvey, who knows her mother. He takes Laurel home. The next day Laurel tells her mother that pleasure means more to her than love or romance. Laurel visits Imogen, who apologizes for hitting her with the glass.

BE A PITTSBURGH BOOSTER
To Your Friends in Other Cities

An Unwise Tax Plan

The Increased Levy Proposed for Gasoline Would Defeat Its Own Purpose

Gov. Pinchot has been unhappy in his choice of commodities to be taxed for the relief of the unemployed.

Study of the effects of gasoline taxes in Pennsylvania and other states shows that the proposed five cent levy would defeat its own purpose by leading to extensive bootlegging of gasoline on which no tax was paid.

The law of diminishing returns is beautifully illustrated in our experience and the experience of other states with gasoline taxes. There is a point at which the tax yields a high return. Raise the figure and the yield falls.

The figure of greatest return in Pennsylvania appears to be the present tax of three cents a gallon. Last May, at three cents, collections were $1,119,000 greater than in May of 1930 at four cents.

It is estimated that the state lost $18,000,000 a year through the bootlegging of gasoline when the four cent tax was on. What would the loss be with the greater profit for the bootleggers that would be afforded by a five cent tax?

Two thirds of all the automobiles in Pennsylvania are owned within 40 miles of the state's boundary lines. This is a temptation to bring in contraband gasoline from other states and facilitates its sale.

The additional tax not only would cause the commonwealth to lose revenue but would work a hardship on Pennsylvania refiners, whose business would suffer.

A Full Payroll

McKeesport Tin Plate Company Will Run at Capacity Until the End of December.

The lead of the McKeesport Tin Plate Company in arranging to operate its plant at capacity during December should be followed by more organizations in this district. The company is putting its idle mills in order. All employes will be given steady work until after Christmas.

Officials of the company have devoted special effort to the task of arranging for a full Christmas payroll for every worker. The company has been producing at 50 per cent of capacity for several months, but future sales have been anticipated and a part of the December output will go to warehouses until customers need material next year.

All industries are not able to follow such a plan, but employers in a position to build up inventories during the next four weeks can do much to give Pittsburgh a Merry Christmas.

A Regrettable Decision

It Is to Be Hoped the Plan to Hold No Art Exhibition Next Year Will Be Reconsidered.

Pittsburgh's prestige in the music world suffered a severe blow when the city lost its symphony orchestra.

And now our prestige in another of the fine arts is threatened. The fine arts committee of Carnegie Institute has decided there shall be no international exhibition of paintings next year.

The decision is regrettable and it is to be hoped it will be reconsidered.

The international exhibition has given Pittsburgh such a splendid reputation as a center of culture that if we should appear to falter there are other American cities that will eagerly snatch at our laurels. Chicago, now preparing for a pretentious art exhibition at its world's fair, is one of them.

The 1932 show at Carnegie Institute is to be abandoned "for economic reasons." Instead of abandoning it, why not stage it less expensively?

The usual expedition to Europe to search for pictures could be dispensed with. The number of paintings displayed could be made smaller by limiting each artist to one canvas, and money could be saved by eliminating some of the customary lectures on the exhibition by out of town critics.

They Are Mistaken

The Sun-Telegraph Did Not Fail to Report the Protest Against the Sunday Movies.

The Sun-Telegraph has received a letter from the Ministerial Association of the United Presbyterian Church protesting because, the ministers say, we failed "to fully give the news about the protests against the Sunday movie entertainments put on by the movie theaters of Pittsburgh and vicinity" last Sunday.

The ministers are mistaken. The Sun-Telegraph DID report the protests at length, notwithstanding their feebleness.

The Sun-Telegraph also made it plain that "the Welfare Fund . . . has no part at all in the motion picture benefit, either in management or in receipts."

The Sun-Telegraph is in favor of Sunday movies, but it does not suppress or distort news because of its editorial policies.

Sometimes we think we give the Blue Law advocates more space than their number or the importance of their utterances justifies.

Welfare Fund Gifts

The Donations as Published Cannot Be Used as a Guide To the Donors' Income.

Publication of individual contributions to the Welfare and Emergency Association fund has brought some surprises.

There have been cases in which persons commonly regarded as millionaires, and with a year to pay, have given as little as $100.

Other contributors of small means have given as much as five per cent of their annual salaries.

The published figures cannot, therefore, be used as a guide to the donors' incomes.

It is unsafe, also, to generalize and say that one class has given more generously than another.

Many, no doubt, have been guided in their giving by reading what others have given. But whether publication of the figures has tended to increase or decrease the contributions is conjectural.

John Bull: "Well, How Do You Like It, Sam?"

Uncle Sam has discovered that if he erects a high tariff wall to shut out the goods of other countries, it is no more than natural that other nations would erect high tariff walls to shut out American goods.

The Hawley Smoot Tariff was based on the puerile assumption that American foreign trade can be a one-way trade, consisting solely of exports. It antagonized foreign customers throughout the world. It interfered with the free, natural flow of commerce and did not benefit the special interests which sponsored it.

Many nations retaliated including Canada, our neighbor and hitherto one of our best customers. Great Britain has just raised the tariff wall on 50 items of merchandise hitherto purchased from America and considers adding others to the list.

"How do you like it, Sam!" asks John Bull, atop his high tariff wall. Samuel doesn't like it for one single minute.

Congress will have to help Sam out of his difficulties. This it CAN AND SHOULD DO, by modernizing the tariff, through RECIPROCAL arrangements with other countries, thereby developing foreign markets for American goods.

Love's Young Dreams

All that a good woman asks is to be loved as intensely as a good golf course and as tenderly as a new set of clubs.

* * *

Marriage is not guaranteed to make a woman perfectly happy; it is only guaranteed to make her less unhappy than any of its substitutes.

We pay for everything worth while in this life; yet a woman is always shocked to discover that even love's young dreams has a price tag attached to it.

Dying "for love" is out of fashion. But killing for love is such a popular fad that you have to keep the shades pulled down to avoid seeing your romantic neighbors shoot each other up.

There are two ways of reducing—both painful. One is to give up starches and improve your digestion; the other, to fall in love and lose your appetite.

* * *

Don't worry because you can't discover why your husband goes out evenings—wait until you can't decide whether it's contrition or exhaustion that keeps him at home occasionally.

Even in this enlightened day most men still believe that a girl's devotion to a profession is a profession of her failure to get a husband.

When a man marries the right woman, it is not his fault; it is just a lucky accident that happens in spite of everything he can do to prevent it.

In the modern love, the heroine always "gets her man," by boldly clutching him and asking him to love her. But, in real life, men and dreams "go by contraries," and the surest way to make any man love you, is to ask him NOT to.

* * *

In these days of instantaneous petting a man seldom stops long enough to discover whether what's under a girl's permanent wave is a brain or just something to separate her ears.

Isn't It So?

When others think of giving up the determined man begins.

Riches have wings, but poverty won't get them until the hereafter.

All men are born equal, but the women have the superiority complex.

Middle age appears to be that period nobody enters until he is through it.

The woman always pays—if her husband doesn't forget to give her the money.

There is nothing on earth of so much interest to you or of so little interest to anybody else as yourself.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Nov. 27. Thoughts while strolling. I never remember which is Janet Beecher and which is Violet Heming. Dudley Malone is now Mayor Walker's theater companion. Ed Wynn is packing them in and his play hasn't a single dirty line. The duke of the Roaring Forties, Dinty Moore's son William.

Paul Block, an Elmira, N. Y. boy, who made good in the city. They say Peter Arno took the flop of his show very hard. Charles Dillingham sits in the front row gallery at his opening nights. George Kaufman paces up and down out front. George White sits in the box office. Jed Harris—but who cares?

Now the wags are suggesting that the Canter-Jessel combination merge with Goldman-Sachs. No Broadwayite since Raymond Hitchcock has had the courage to wear a gray derby. And there are liars who still tell of being on the loose with Hitchy. Although he never took a drink or smoked in his life.

That fiery redhead with vivid green tie always at the Palace Sunday nights. Ray Goetz passes Irene Bordoni with a hurried hat tip. Barney Gallant is his own master of ceremony in the night club depression. When I see Charles Hanson Towne I always think of Buddha.

The lunchroom near the Metropolitan where Donn Byrne and Joyce Kilmer used to foregather. Now a gaudy all-night shoe shop. That cheerful one-legged, hunchbacked dwarf newsie near the Automat. The tang of buckwheat and sausage, yum, yum. Nate Leipzig, still slickest of the parlor tricksters.

Lee Shubert and C. P. Grieneker. Tight-mouthed, spotty youths alert for broad effects, who cluster about Lindy's. And the honey-lipped girls who join them for coffee. The old Hammerstein theater seems jinxed. Bulbless signs in front of deserted cabarets. Earl Carroll's shadow—"The Count."

Broadway's never-do-wells who live without toil, good times and bad, year after year. Corner tough: "I just flattened a pansy." Kenyon Nicholson in town. That sluggish hour when New York seems drowned in mournful twilight. But soon spring with fuchsia and mignonette, yo hoo!

Noonday vignette. In West 51st street. A red-shirted laborer digging with his pick. The whistle blows. His wife arrives with lunch and perched on a nearby rock they enjoy their meal together.

The professional hostess has gone out. Less than 10 years ago she was as fixed on the entertainment menu of the town as the hat check girl. Belle St. Martin sang and fluttered from table to table at Rector's. Grace Fields was at the Claridge. Mae Murray at Sans Souci. Joan Sawyer at Montmartre. Justine Johnson at the Little Club. Sophie Tucker at Reisenweber's. Margaret Hawkesworth at the old Sixty Club and Veronica at Delmonico's. All antedated Texas Guinan, who perhaps became the most famous during her era.

In those days cabarets were packed with diverse personalities and hostessing was a bright calling. The most expert had followings. Even family hotels, such as the uptown Majestic, Ansonia, Belleclaire and others employed them. It was their job to mingle from table to table, call guests by name and make them feel vastly important. Salaries ranged from $75 to $150 a week and as the result of such contacts many went on to successful stage careers or equally successful marriages.

* * *

During the hostess era Ted Lewis with battered top hat was inquiring if "everybody's happy" at mirrored Rector's. Irene Castle and Vernon were receiving $200 a week and giving dancing lessons for $20 each on the side. Prisco, a broth of a boy, got $20 a week and cakes in a side street table d'hote. And Tommy Lyman gloomily billed as "the tubercular tenor," crooned in a dingy dive back of a plumbing shop on Houston street. The goal of every cabaret piff-awmer in those days was the Midnight Frolic on the New Amsterdam Roof.

The smart night crowd of that day would be found in the tiny black and white room of uptown Bustanoby's at sunup. "Diamond Jim" was the most illustrious Broadwayite.

From a musical journal: "At his piano, the young Russian frequently twists on his stool, pulls nervously at his collar, jiggles his right foot and flirts graceful fingers through his long hair. A newcomer, he has IT."

Sounds more like the plain old itch.

LISTEN, WORLD

By Elsie Robinson

Going on a party this Saturday night, of course?

Where? Belle's or Harry's? Or perhaps down to the Browns?

Doesn't much matter. A party's a party, wherever you pull it.

Saturday night—good old Saturday night! What a grand institution it has become. Everywhere you go—from N'Yawk to 'Frisco . . . from Detroit to N'Asleans . . . you'll find things busting loose on Saturday night.

Telephones jingling—

"Lo, Jack—how's tricks? We're organizing a little celebration up at Fred's. Wanna come? Great! Bring the missis. Sure—an' how about digging up a few quarts of that embalming fluid you gave us last week? Ha-ha! And oh, yeah, call up Bill, wonchа? And see if he can't get that red-headed girl—Remember? The one who passed out cold at Edna's. Some baby, that! Joe's nuts on her. I promised I'd get hold of her somehow. Think you can locate her? Good old boy! Well, see you later, Jack. 'Bye."

Horrid conversation? Cheap and vulgar? Underworld stuff? Not in the least! How do you get that way!!! That's a perfectly nice American people, in several millions of perfectly respectable American homes and offices in the year 1931. Each and every one of these Americans are red hot for the High Standard of American Living. Each and every one has no use for gangsters . . . thinks something should be done about our crime wave . . . is tickled pink because Capone got 11 years.

Most of them are devoted mothers and fathers, who come Monday morning will be hitting it on all six on their respective jobs. But—

This isn't Monday morning. This is Saturday Night and we've worked hard all week. So Now Let's Organize a Party! For what's the harm in a couple little drinks?

What harm? Well, that depends on what you call harm. Here, for instance is a letter from one average citizen, telling about the results of Saturday Night Parties on one average wife. Maybe you'd call the results harmful. Maybe you wouldn't. Judge for yourself. I'm copying it verbatim.

Dear Miss Robinson—

"I'm having such a problem with my wife since prohibition that I need your advice. We were married in 1915. My wife was a beautiful girl then. She did not smoke or drink and neither did our friends in their homes. I was certainly proud of her, and our associates.

"However, in the last 10 years she has gradually gotten the cigaret and gin habit. Although I care for neither, I have no objection to her using both in moderation, but this she is unable to do. All our friends seem to believe that the only way to entertain now is to see how much liquor can be consumed in four or five hours. I have tried in vain to have my wife limit herself to a couple of drinks, but it is no party for her or the bunch unless all get noisy drunk and disgusting to anyone in their right senses.

"I have forgiven, coaxed and advised until now, if I say anything, I am called a wet blanket and a narrow-minded boob. My home life is ruined. I am losing my respect and love for my wife, the mother of my children. What can I do to make my home respectable and give my children back the sort of mother I chose for them?

"J. A. C."

Well, what can he do? Do you know? If you do, you might airmail the information to Uncle Sam. He could certainly use it. For Likkered Ladies are becoming one of the commonest things we have. The letter isn't exceptional. It might have come from almost any apartment house in America. You, personally, know a dozen families it would fit. Twenty years ago—

Twenty years ago we had saloons. I knew them well. There were 53 of them in the small town where I lived. Come Saturday night, the stevedores and farm hands got drunk in those saloons. Not a pretty sight. But you could keep away from it. You didn't HAVE to go down to the water front and mix up with the rowdies unless you had a hankering for that sort of thing—

BUT THE WATERFRONT HAS MOVED UPTOWN, NOWDAYS. MOVED INTO THE APARTMENT ACROSS THE HALL . . . THE LITTLE BUNGALOW ACROSS THE STREET. AND IT ISN'T PORTAGEE PETE OR SHANGHAI LIL WHO'S PASSING OUT COLD—IT'S MAMMA!

Well—?

The Drama Shifts To Washington

By Claude G. Bowers

Author of "The Struggle for Democracy in America," "Founders of the Republic," "Jefferson and Democracy," "The Tragic Era" and other important works, now writing for The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph

With Congress about to convene, the most interesting American news is trickling out of Washington. Jack Garner, a real Jacksonian in character and temperament, is assured of the speakership, and this is not alarming to Republicans, who know he will be fair. He has breakfasted with John Curry, the Democratic leader of New York City, usually described as the head of Tammany Hall, and found him a delightful gentleman. In facetious mood, Mr. Garner announces that he found none of the hoofs or horns of caricature. Instead he found a modest, soft-spoken, kindly gentleman interested, like himself, in the coming triumph to the Democratic party.

Just what is to be done to meet the $2,000,000,000 deficit of the Hoover regime is still in a nebulous stage, men differing widely as to how to get the money. Meanwhile, in the home of Senator Walsh, of Montana, Democratic leaders wisely have met to plan the party program for the winter. And in the Republican camp there is consternation over the evident determination of the insurgents to unhorse Senator Moses, whose contemptuous fling about "wild jackasses" in the agricultural sections still rankles in the minds of the affronted.

Insurgent Group Gains Great Power

It is remarkable that the insurgent group of the Republicans in the Senate have attained so much power despite the policy of excluding them from strategic positions. In the old Aldrich days this would have been impossible. Reactionary leadership has deteriorated in cleverness since those halcyon times. It is almost incredible that some of the most important chairmanships are now held by "the sons of wild jackasses." Borah is at the head of the Foreign Relations Committee, Norris of the Judiciary Committee, Couzens of the Interstate Commerce Committee, Johnson of the Commerce Committee, La Follette of the Manufacturers' Committee, and Norbeck of the Committee on Banking and Currency. If men once living and now dead meet in the shades and discuss the proceedings done before, it would be interesting to listen in on the conversations of Aldrich, Eugene Hale, Julius Caesar Burrows and Spooner. Such things were impossible in their day.

Vengeance of People Falls on Reactionaries

Of course, Watson, Moses and Reed do not approve, but the vengeance of the people has fallen upon the reactionaries from time to time, and death has taken its toll and under the rule of seniority, the insurgents have moved up to the chairmanships automatically. But it will be noted that the Finance Committee, the happy hunting ground of privilege for generations, is still in the hands of the reactionaries. When the insurgents get that committee the Bastile falls.

In the "good old days" Aldrich handled these matters better because more ruthlessly. Thus there came a time when there was a vacancy on the Finance Committee, to which Dolliver, of Iowa, aspired, and with reason. He had served on the Ways and Means Committee in the House and for years had been used to close debates where his remarkable ability made him a host within himself. But just before he had refused to bow to the yoke in the rate regulation fight, and Aldrich pronounced him "unsound." He was refused a place on the Finance Committee and an obscure new man from Michigan, who would do as he was told, was put on.

That was a stupid piece of ruthlessness. It made Dolliver so ruthless that within a year he was tearing the cotton schedule to tatters in one of the most tremendous speeches ever heard in the Senate during the fight on the Payne-Aldrich bill. That was the beginning of the end of "ruthlessness" and of the oligarchy of privilege. It is too late to return to the old methods.

Democratic Party May Organize Senate

If the reactionaries refuse to throw Moses to the sharks at the instance of the Insurgents there is a possibility that the Democrats may organize the Senate, which is Republican by a meager majority. If the reactionaries vote for Moses for president pro tem and the insurgents for one of their own number, the Democrats will control in the organization. This, however, is not the sort of control they will want. A minority in control is always hopelessly handicapped. They would lack the power and yet be so situated that responsibility for legislation and policies they could not dominate would be passed to them. It would be infinitely better for them to organize the Senate only when they have a clear majority and a positive mandate in the Senate.

Ridicule Dominates Johnson's Demand

Meanwhile the demand of Senator Johnson of California that Mr. Hoover announce that he does not choose to run next year is overloading him with jeers and ridicule. But the very intensity of the fury against him is a revelation of the seriousness of his demand. It is not encouraging for the Senator from a President's own state to lead in the demand for his elimination and especially when that particular Senator so easily eliminated the President from consideration in California in 1920. Mr. Hoover never has had any such hold on California as Hiram Johnson. Neither has any other Republican in 20 years. Mr. Hughes once took too seriously the jeers of the eastern press at Johnson, and that was fatal. On the night of the election in 1916 reporters calling at the Hughes home were informed that "The President has retired."

He awoke the next morning to learn that California had retired the "President" before he had qualified.

A contest whether Johnson is a candidate himself or not between the Senator and the President would not be conducive to the President's triumph. For Johnson is a fighter and the President is not. Johnson is forcefully articulate and the President at times is strangely inarticulate; Johnson is fighting now against the subordination of American to European interests, and the President blissfully oblivious to conditions here, is bending every effort to help Europe by transferring the billions of European debts from the backs of Europeans who got the money to the back of American taxpayers who loaned the money. Nationally that is not entirely to the advantage of the President in a fight.

State's Pride Backs Johnson in Fight

The reaction of the nation to such a contest as that between the President and Johnson is sure to be one of wonderment that a Senator would dare to endanger his political life by fighting the President in his own state. The answer to that is that to Californians, California is more than state of Hiram Johnson than of Herbert Hoover. The Senator was born in California, has lived there all his life, participated in the civic duties of a citizen, and far back as 1912 his was a household name in the state when the name of the President was scarcely known at all. It was scarcely known because he had lived during the greater part of his life in Europe had not so much as voted and knew so little of public affairs in America that in the spring of 1920 he had no notion to which party he belonged. As far as state pride goes it operates for Johnson. If he were a candidate against the President in a preferential primary in California he would sweep the state. Jeering at Johnson is not an especially intelligent indoor sport.
